I don't understand. Was the transmitter located in the homeowners house, so he could transmit by telephone? IOW, did he telephone his own house and talk over his transmitter from some remote location? If so, then he certainly broke the associations rules, since obviously it was the transmitter power they were bitching about and not the physical location of the DJ. Its kind of like you calling a radio station and talking over the air via your telephone. You could call from anywhere, but the stations power will still be there to amplify and transmit your voice with several kilowatts to an audience.

I can believe it. There have been many dumb laws passed. Some of them have been thrown out by the higher courts, either 'state or federal. Like the guy back in the 60's who wanted to start a cable TV business in southern California. Every movie theatre had a petition in their lobbys to prevent him from doing it. and hunderwds of thousands of movie goers signed it. Not only that, but the stupid California voters voted for it! Of course, the California Supreme Court threw it out. (His cable business didn't take away anyone's rights. If he came to your door and asked you if you wanted him to deliver a cable signal to your house, all you had to do was say, "No", and slam the door in his face. Ande, if your neighbor had one delivered to his living room, You wouldn't even know it, so it wouldn't hurt you in the least) But millions of California voters pulled the lever on "no" for that poor guy, and it cost him a bundle to fight it to the state supreme court..... Go figure..... People haven't a clue as to what the Constitution is all about. And by, "people" I also mean our legislaters....

radiofruitcake claimed the HOA foreclosed for rules violations.
that ain't gonna happen as the HOA has no legal intererst in the home.

- There was an unwritten "law" that said
- red cars belonged to the fire dept.

I have written up Quick Reference cards for the XT scanners that help you operate the scanners once you get them programmed.

http://www.scannermaster.com/Manuals_s/500.htm&Click=64337?
searching=Y&sort=1&cat=500&show=20&page=1

They have all the key presses for entering and using the various modes of the scanners on a wallet size 5-fold laminated card so you can take them anywhere.

Great for trying new modes less used, they allow you to easily use all of the features of the scanners "on the fly" without having to break out the manual to figure out how to save a TGID, go to a channel number tag, change center frequency in Bandscope Mode, etc.

They are the perfect companion to the Easier to Read manual also available at Scannermaster.

That rule is not vague.

> Originally, the ham thought this was a very very very specific rule which allowed him to transmit from ham radios off of homeowner association property while he was physically off of homeowners association property.

You were right, provided that your words: "transmit from ham radios off of homeowners association property" mean: "transmit from ham radios WHICH ARE off of homeowners association property."

> So he moved into the homeowners association and unlike certain other hams which hide antennas on homeowners association property in violation of the homeowners rules and the contract they signed, this ham actually obeyed the homeowners association rule and transmitted ham radio only when he was physically off of homeowners property using radios, and repeaters, and irlp and echolink..

I assume you mean that those radios and other stuff were all off of HOA property.

> However, he soon found out it was a very very very vage rule when the big bad homeowners association foreclosed his house on him for violating the rule and claimed that it was a very very very specific rule which prohibits him from making ham radio transmissions even whie he is off of homeowners property and using ham radios off of homeowners property while he is physically off homeowners association property.

I hereby request that all state legislators in your state pass a law making it a misdemeanor for you to use the word "very" ever again.

> It started because while he was making a ham radio transmission off of homeowner property while he was physically off of homeowners property, another homeowner in the association heard the ham radio transmission on his own scanner (no the hams scanner since he didn't have one other than the one he had off of homeowner association property, such as at his parents' house) and complained to the homeowners association about it.
> Then the big bad homeowners association stated he broke the rule and fined him. The ham refused to pay the fine, stating that he never ever broke the rule and only made ham radio transmissions when he was physically off of the property and never ever even had a ham radio on homeowners asociation property at all.

If someone like me wrote the HOA agreement, it would have said (in more careful legal language) that all fines must be paid without setoff and regardless of any defense or proceeding to determine the validity of the assessment, and that the fine will be refunded if the member wins a protest with the HOA Protest Committee or wins a judicial determination that the assessment was invalid. If that clause is in the HOA agreement, you violated that rule regardless of whether you violated the radio rule.

If the HOA really said that, that was dumb. But that doesn't mean much. Either the non-vague rule was violated by a transmission from a transmitter on HOA property or it was not, and the subsequent dumbness of the HOA adds nothing and subtracts nothing.

Prove it. I'll believe it when you show me the order which says that or a transcript in which the judge said it. Until then, I will believe that the court decided that your transmitter was on HOA property when the transmission occurred. That decision would be correct if the transmitter was on HOA property at the time, regardless of where you were standing. And of course, that decision was wrong if you did not have the transmitter on HOA property at the time. An erroneous judgment can be made - that's believable - somebody lied and the court believed it. That's what appeals are for.

Useless, but harmless.

> This angered and miffed the homeowners association who tried to gget them to stop transmitting by saying it is a violation of the homeowners association rules.

Just shows how dumb HOAs can be. It would have been more fun to stand outside and watch the parade until the hams figured out they were wasting gasoline and missing a baseball game on TV while accomplishing nothing.

Now that's funny. And clever. And useless, of course, since there was no trespassing and no violation of the agreement and no fine assessed against them and no court proceeding contemplated. Just more harmless fun.

Depends on the state. Texas has had examples of all sorts of game on the part of the HOA.

They might be able to begin the procedings. But as soon as that happens, the mortage holder takes over.
Who do you make your mortage payments to? The holder or the HOA?
The holder has priority over the HOA.

It estimated that drivers using cell phones in any manner failed to see up to 50 per cent of the information in their driving environment; that is, they may have looked at something, but it did not register. Marvyn Richmond, 49, was so engrossed in a conversation with his mother that he failed to notice traffic ahead of him had come to a standstill, and ploughed into the back of the queue, killing Michael Buston, a passenger in a van.

Relatives of Mr Buston and road safety charities called for an outright ban on making phone calls whilst driving, which makes drivers four times more likely to have an accident, even if they are using a hands-free kit.

Mr Buston's father-in-law, Peter Long, whose son was badly hurt in the crash in March last year, said: "The use of hands-free phones should be stopped. Whether it's hands-free or not, it's still a distraction to any driver.

"What happened was totally avoidable. At the end of the day this man has ruined many lives, all because he was using his mobile while driving."

Richmond was jailed for four and a half years after being convicted at Lincoln Crown Court of causing death by dangerous driving.

Q. What are the sources of driver distraction?

A. There are many distractions in everyday driving. Events and activities inside and outside the vehicle can cause driver distraction. Many of these have been recorded in the Crashworthiness Data System maintained by the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) and include:

Something taking place alongside the roadway
An unexpected noise
Operating the radio, CD, or cassette player
Adjusting the climate or operational controls
Using other devices in the vehicle (navigational instruments, business tools, cellular telephones)
Eating, drinking and smoking
Other distractions while driving include personal grooming, conversations with passengers, disciplining or tending to children, reading or writing.

Back to top

Q. What are the consequences of driving while distracted?

A. Distracted drivers react more slowly to sudden traffic conditions or events, such as a car stopping to make a turn, or pulling out from a side road. They fail more often to recognize potential hazards such as pedestrians, bicycles or debris in the road. They decrease their "margin of safety" leading them to take risks that they might not otherwise take, such as turning left in front of oncoming traffic.

When a driver's attention is drawn away from the road and the surrounding environment, the result could be a delayed reaction to a hazard, or possibly a failure to detect it at all. All of these are common factors associated with vehicle crashes. Driver focus is critical to anticipating and avoiding collisions.

One of the earlier studies on distracted driving, released by Transport Canada's Ergonomics Division, 'The Impact of Cognitive Distraction on Driver Visual Behaviour and Vehicle Control' in February 2002 (Harbluk and Noy) found that performing a demanding cognitive task while driving produced changes in the drivers' visual behaviour, vehicle control (as indicated by braking behaviour), and subjective assessments of workload, safety, and distraction.

A more recent study by the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) released in April 2006 concluded that driver age, experience, daytime sleepiness ratings and personality can make significant differences in a driver's involvement in crashes and near-crashes due to distractions.

Back to top

Q. How many collisions are caused by distracted drivers?

A. Driver distraction is cited as one of the most common contributors to traffic crashes but the numbers vary depending on the study. According to a 2006 study published by the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) the various forms of driver distraction are estimated to contribute in 8 out of every 10 crashes (NHTSA, April 2006). This figure translates into almost 4 million crashes per year. Estimates of a similar magnitude have been cited in other reports (NHTSA, 1997, Treat et al. 1979).

I have a Realistic PRO-2003 AM/FM scanning receiver for sale.  It is in very good shape and comes with the manual.  I'm asking $45 plus postage for it.
You may contact me off the newsgroup.

Thanks

Henry

Your silly opinion polls don't change the fact that you lied about all of Canada having such a ban.
As was said, "It is not all of Canada, just Ontario."

Go back to your trolling.

Next, they are going to realize that talking on a hands free cell phone is no different that speaking to someone in the car with you -- and then you are going to be banned from saying anything to the cars occupants while driving!!!  DUH!!!

ROFLOL -- you just have to love these idiots -- I mean it is so obvious their mothers didn't!

I have a Realistic PRO-2003 AM/FM scanning receiver for sale. It is in very good shape and comes with the manual. I'm asking $45 plus postage for it. You may contact me off the newsgroup.

Thanks

Henry

 Jan   12,2012 - Added: Country Agencies in RadioReference Import.
 Jan   18,2012 - Fixed: Editing Frequency in Main Display using keyboard.
 Jan   20,2012 - Added: Freq Plan Calculator.

Version 0.90.282 Released 01/21/2012

The Frequency Plan Calculator is a tool to help you determine UnKnown Frequency Plans.

Using the Frequency Plan Calculator.

1) Identify the Base Frequency:
  a. Select the LCN that is associated with the Active Control Channel.
  b. Enter the Correct Frequency of the Active Control Channel.
  c. Adjust Offset and Step Rate if needed.
  d. Click the [Calculate Base] Button.

2) Determine Voice Channel Frequencies:
  a. Select the LCN that is associated with a Voice Channel.
  b. If the Base, Offset and Step is correct, its correct Frequency will be shown.
  c. If Not, then be sure the Step Rate is correct and adjust the Offset.
  d. Repeat steps 2a to 2c for the rest of the entries in the Frequency Found List.

3) Extended Freq Plans:
     These can be identified with different Base Frequencies and Offsets.

Normally, the Base Frequency will end in 0000 (ex: 406.0000).

When you have determined the correct Offset and Step Rate, you can click on the other entries in the Frequency Found List and it's corresponding Frequency will be calculated and shown in the Channel's Frequency textbox. If the calculated Frequency matches the correct Voice Channel Frequency, click the [Save Entry] Button.

If you discover that different clustered LCN's have a different Base Frequency and Offset, then this system would use the Extended Freq Plan.

Jay

You are so screwed up, when it comes to US Radio Law, you wouldn't know the REAL FACTS, if they bit you in the Arse....

First Off: What Cops, are saying WHAT, about which Frequencies?
               Be VERY specific....
Second Off: It would be VERY hard to a local prosecutor to try such a case, even in a local Court, KNOWING that it would likely be overturned in the first Federal Court where the case landed.
Third Off:  Local Cops, and even State Cops, do not have jurisdiction in the enforcement of FEDERAL Laws, and should they try, the local Federal Marshal would slap them down in a nanosecond. That is HIS Job.
Fourth Off:  Cops can, and do, say a lot of stuff, about which they have NO CLUE, just like YOU do. Just because some local IDIOT
               LEO says something, does NOT make it True, or in fact Legally, the LAW. I have testified in MANY Courts of Law on just these kinds of issues, and mostly the local LEO has it WRONG, and the IDIOT Prosecutor, gets his hands slapped by the local Judge, once the correct FEDERAL Statutes, are introduced into Evidence, if it ever actually gets that far, in the first place.....
               I mean REALLY... Duh....

first off, radioguy is a frickin ignorant asswipe, second off, local cops enforce federal law every day of the year.
e.g., a convicted felon is found with a gun. that's a federal law.
when sworn in they take oaths to "uphold the laws of the United States and the US Constitution....".

US marshalls rarely deal with cops who enforce the law.

Read the constitution. You will find that sheriffs are the law.
It's only when you have assholes like Eric Holder running the country do you hear them whining about local cops enforcing federal law.

I have a Realistic PRO-2003 AM/FM scanning receiver for sale. It is in very good shape and comes with the manual. I'm asking $45 plus postage for it. You may contact me off the newsgroup.

Thanks

Henry

I'm confused.

The public service bands are either above or below the amateur bands.
The police - unless they are licensed amateur radio operators - are not allowed to use the amateur radio bands, nor is a amateur radio operator allowed to operate on the public service bands with a part 97 type approved radio.

If you polled 100 State or local police officers, 99 of them wouldn't even know how to turn my radio on and 99 of them wouldn't even be able to edit the frequencies programmed into my radio to even know what pl's and other information was stored in my radio.

POLE ICE by nature, doesn't have to have a license to operate on the public service bands, because they are licensed by the FCC to operate on the public service bands.   But, they cannot go on the Amateur Radio Frequencies unless they have a license - for each cop and a call sign - for each cop.
It's ILLEGAL to give licenses to anyone.
You have to pass a test and earn a amateur radio license.

The TWO METERS is nothing but the kindergarten of amateur radio anyways.
Get a General Class License and come on up and play with the big boys on the HF little man.

Kent, the boy is a fruit cake.
What he's talking about here is the two frequencies are actually shared with both ham and police. But some police departments feel because they use it, you can't.

Local and State Cops Do NOT enforce Federal Law... They enforce State Law... What you cite is cases where BOTH State and Federal Statutes prohibit a convicted Felon from possessing a Firearm, and the local or State cops are enforcing the State Statutes, NOT the Federal One.

> US marshals rarely deal with cops who enforce the law.

apparently you have never dealt with a US Marshal... I have, many times, as a Resident Field Agent for the FCC, reTIRED... and know exactly of what I speak..... When on land, the US Marshal provides any muscle needed for ALL Federal Agencies that do not have Police Powers, inherent in their founding Statutes. On the water, it is the USCG, that provides the enforcement function, for any Federal agency, that doesn't have Police Powers. Nobody messes with a Federal Marshal. Their Police Powers are valid anywhere inside US Territory, Period... including Military Bases. The USCG has those same Police Powers on ANY navigable body of water, for US flagged Vessels, as well as foreign vessels inside US Territorial waters, PERIOD... No one messes with a USCG Boarding Party, either...

and they are WRONG, and any enforcement action by some local or State Cop, would be thrown out by the first Court of Jurisdiction, when the Relevant Statutes, and FCC Regulations, are presented to the Judge. If not there, then the first Appeals Court. Usually these things never make it to a Court, as the Prosecutor doesn't want to be overturned, or laughed out of Court, for not knowing the relevant Statutes, in the first place.

Um...Guys...

The low end of the 420-450 amateur band IS being used by police, fire, business, etc in border areas. I have a tower in Colden, NY where one lives...

I give you example WPMF670
http://wireless2.fcc.gov/UlsApp/UlsSearch/license.jsp?licKey=1293747&__newWindow=false

There are about 40 of these in just Erie County, NY

The rules pertaining to use of 421-430 mhz by other then amateur radio 47CFR90.273" http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/cfr_2010/octqtr/47cfr90.273.htm

Detroit, Cleveland, and Buffalo are the areas its possible

From the US Amateur 70cm bandplan at the ARRL website:

70 Centimeters (420-450 MHz):
420.00-426.00 ATV repeater or simplex with 421.25 MHz video carrier control links and experimental

426.00-432.00 ATV simplex with 427.250-MHz video carrier frequency

http://www.arrl.org/band-plan-1

Nothing there says it's even a shared service.

Hi: My squelch circuit is shot. All I get is white noise no matter what position the squelch is in. It is on a Realistic Pro 2001 scanner and quite old but worked fine before this. Any idea on how to fix myself. I tried tuner cleaner to no avail. nick

Do a internet search for Morse Code decipher type program, where you can put your computer microphone next to the speaker on the radio and it will listen to the code and decode it for you.

Find a CW program and teach yourself morse code.
Its not hard.
Learn the numbers first - if you need to learn something fast.
They are a sequence of 5 dots or dah's.

Do you know there is an Italian song titled, "Shaddup You Face"? It was composed by Joe Dolce. I have it in an Italian-American songbook I bought at Amazon.com.

My sentiments exactly -

First off - this is a scanner forum.
Second off - they never gave his call sign.
Third off - just because a person hold a call sign, does not make them a ham radio operator - as in world class ham radio operator.

There is plenty of LIDS in this world, who's only goal in life, is to check into the Rooster Net every morning, crow like a chicken and make a fool of themselves and then talk about their aches and pains and complain about how expensive everything is and then leave.

That does not make the Hiram Percy Maxium.

At the same time, a person does not move and then after moving say - oh and by the way, I would also like to expect to use my amateur radio equipment and put up my own tower.

The world does not revolve around you, and even if it did, if you were the only ham there, what would they do with that tower in a couple of months after you died?

There are rest home communities and even who developments that involves senior citizens who operates their own ham radio equipment.
One such town in Arizona - has 3 or 4 ham radio clubs just in their one town alone - and fully manned and maintained stations which all members of their gated community is allowed to operate anytime they wish.

Negative publicity isn't going to get you any brownie points - when we already have 700,000 licensed hams - most of which are only Technician class license holders, who walks around with their $50 - $150 handi talkies - who does not understand how amateur communications really works.

All they understand is that their cell phones and their cordless phones works on the principal of wireless - and so they do not need to invest in all kinds of radio equipment, antenna's, power supplies, SWR meters, coax, towers, computers for logging etc.
All you need is a walkie talkie and a local repeater so you can jabber like a monkey in a tree.

If this person was a real ham - as others has said, they would have already invested in a computer - (I know - taboo to stupid old folks who refuses to learn anything) and a mic and a head set and internet access and they could literally check in to thousands of repeaters all over the world.

Even that does not make them a real good ham, but at least it allows them to stay active...
This topic is several years old
I know because I saw the same newspaper article a year or more ago.......

And your question is?

http://www.arrl.org/band-plan-1

http://www.dxzone.com/cgi-bin/dir/jump2.cgi?ID=26712

Technically - it cannot be Amateur Radio - since Amateur radio operators are not allowed to operate on 5900 / only 5100 - 5400 kc's and even then only on certain frequencies - channels if you prefer and not just anywhere you desire to turn the knob.

So then all you have to look at is what is authorized to operate on the 5900 Kc range - some type of government transmission, commercial radio?

By understanding the band plan - you can determine what countries you can talk to...   Or which countries permit a certain frequency for use.

Long before cell phones, I saw people driving while reading pocket books, which they held against the top of their steering wheels while driving. When their cars drifted off the road, they would correct to bring themselves back into the center of their lanes. But how could the police know after a crash whether it was caused by the guy reading a book or not? Probably they couldn't. So the statistics on such a thing are highly suspect. Whenever I see statistics, I always ask myself, "How would I determine such a thing?" And, If I couldn't figure out the answer to that. I reason that there probably isn't any answer, and they are just blowing smoke......

With cell phones, it's pretty easy to determine if they were in use when the accident happened, since there are records of time/location (cell)/duration/etc. that the police can access within minutes.

That being said, it would still be conjecture as to whether the person being on the phone was directly involved in the accident (barring eyewitnesses seeing the driver texting, etc.)

Yes. I don't text. I don't even know how to text. When my cell phone rings while I am driving, I pick it up and say, "Hang on a minute". then I pull over to the side of the road and continue the conversation after I am stopped. I can't see how this could result in an accident, unless it is impossible for me to pull over, in which case the person calling me would just have to wait. I see no purpose in texting anyone at any time. Speaking is faster and doesn't require the use of your eyes. There is no way to insure that other people on the road with you are driving safely. There aren't enough policemen to have one in every car. So, it is just one of those million hazards that you have to put up with in life that may kill you. If you can't handle it, then you should move into a padded cell somewhere and give up living altogether.

It's all part of the nanny state. And you can't blame liberals for all of it, conservatives have come up with more than enough of this silly crap as well.

The way I see it, if talking on a hands-free phone or a CB, ham radio, etc., is a hazardous distraction, then would not talking to a passenger, listening to the radio, or humming your favorite tune also be JUST as dangerous? Are we ready to have a one-person-per-car rule, with no radios/tape players/CD players/mp3 players, ad inf.?

I remember when I was a kid, we were FREE to ride our bicycles/scooters/skates/skateboards without some government entity telling us we had to wear a helmet, knee pads, elbow pads and a sweaty vinyl reflective vest (even in the bright summer sunlight!).

And some are making a big deal of Romney carrying Seamus in a cartop carrier.. I seem to remember that there have been, for some time (not sure about NOW), cartop carriers specifically made for pets, complete with food and water dispensers. And damn... is that any more dangerous for your pet than (or even AS dangerous), say, letting them ride in the back of your pickup (still done in rural areas all the time)? Or, for that matter, letting them ride in your car with a window open?

Point being, I'm so tired of having our "servants" tell us how we must live. Allow people the freedom to make their own choices and their own mistakes. Yeah, WARN them of the possible consequences of a given action, but don't force them to go to ludicrous extremes just to be able to do anything.

Well, I mostly agree. I blame it on the liberals, whether they are Republicans or Democrats. I agree that it isn't the governments business how I go about protecting/not protecting myself. Its my head, and using our socialized medical system as an excuse to force me to protect it is wrong. However, when it comes to forcing me to protect my dogs and children, that's a different matter. Until they are 18, I think its OK for the government to make laws that protect them from harm. After all, both you and I know that there are some people who should never have children....Or pets, for that matter.

THAT argument is the one that cuts to the core of this idiocy.

Don't forget how much Police, Fire, Ambulance, Taxi, City Bus and package delivery services depend on being able to talk while driving!

It's incredible to me that we were warned long ago that for a government to try to be all things to all people, to try to be a PARENT over all citizens and to try to eliminate all hazards quickly becomes a nightmare.

Franz Kafka and George Orwell's warnings have not been heeded and the horrors they depicted seem OPTIMISTIC as things progress to levels even worse than what they warned about.

The USA used to berate the USSR for the abuses that STATEISM represent, but our government has become even worse than what we once berated.

Uneducated boobs posing as "social workers" are attempting "social engineering" in various ways.

They won't be happy until we live in a world of nerf foam.

Already, more kids have allergies not because they are exposed to pollen, cat hair, dog fur, etc.
but because they were NOT exposed to many of those things as kids when they would have developed an ability to cope.

Immunizations are a double edge sword like that as well.

If you are immunized against whatever disease, you are not protected against as many variants as you would be if you actually got the disease.

Kids were vaccinated against Polio long after Polio was gone and vaccination deaths outweighed the risk of the disease. NOW Polio is a threat again because of heavier international travel.

I'm not against vaccinations but the "back end" problems need to be considered more carefully and contamination hazards need to be addressed more seriously, and without legal immunity or actuarial tables car companies made so famous when Pintos were killing people.

(Ford decided the insurance risk and death payouts were smarter than recalling the fire trap car.)

I'm not arguing against seat belts, but lots of people overlook that seat belts actually do kill people too.   It's a matter of actuarial tables.
Statistically you are better off to use them than not, but writing off the down side is a lie.

If you found out that your Mom died because the seat belt killed her, you won't like being told that it's an anomoly or having the risk/benefit ratios explained to you.

As a kid I wore helmets for snowmobiling and mini bike riding. I've often wondered if the WEIGHT of these helmets don't actually cause some extra problems.

Then again, when I was a teen I actually brought a shotgun into the local high school.
(Firearms safety classes)

And trap shooting (clay pidgeons at a gun range) was a unit in school psysical education classes.

I think we are being regulated to death by STATEISM guided by fake "social workers" with a "Chicken Little" mindset.
Government as PARENT over all of us.

I thought that making cell phones and ham radios "hands free" was good enough.

Video and cameras catching people reading or texting while driving (like the bus driver a few months ago) seemed like a good solution.

Going after hands free really does compare to having a converstion with passengers.

Some people just can't walk and chew gum at the same time.

We must all be dumbed down to the most incapable common denominator.
That is the government way.

Below is a proposed cell phone law for the city of Evanston. NOTE that there are NO provisions for or CB or Amateur radios mentioned.
And yet another web site mentioned that this politician wants to also ban the use of "other, portable electricic devices" while driving. Nowhere is ANY mention made of Amateur or CB (hard to tell the difference these days) radio.

"Nearly two years after an alderman successfully pushed for an ordinance making it illegal to use a hand-held cell phone while driving, she is now seeking a total ban.

Speaking during the aldermanic comment portion of the Evanston City Council meeting, Alderman Jane Grover, 7th Ward, said Monday she plans to press for a total ban on cell phone use while driving in Evanston, going beyond last year's move which allowed hands-free use of a phone while driving.

Grover said she plans to present the issue for discussion at the Feb. 6 City Council Human Services meeting.

She said her ordinance would ban any use of the cell phone while driving within city limits.

"In a city where we have four or five miles anywhere you want to go, it doesn't make sense your business is so urgent on the phone it can't wait until you get to that destination," she said.

Evanston City Council members approved an ordinance, effective March 15, 2010, that requires hands-free device use in an effort to curtail distracted driving.

Under the city ordinance, violators face a $50 fine, with an added $200 penalty if the violation occurs at the time of a traffic accident."

Non Libertarians never think of things like that when they make laws. They think that they are the only ones who exist, and if a law doesn't bother them, then it shouldn't bother anybody, and therefore, it must be a good thing. So new laws will continue to be put on the books, as long as each one only interferes with the lives of a minority of the people, until we are all cowering in a padded cell somewhere, unable to move without breaking some law or other...

The point of the law is not to protect you. It is to protect me from you.

Nah...

Regulate them,
{Helmets Required} License them,
{Eco-Friendly 'Sustainable' Materials}

- The point of the law is not to protect you.
- It is to protect me from you.

Nah Dave,

The 'law' might ?protect? you after the fact.

More to the "Point" :

The Point of the Gun is NOT to Protect You.
It {The Gun} IS to Protect Me from You.

- We're talking about a no mobile use law, not guns.

Dave Dave Dave, you talking on anything while you are mobile {driving} is more dangerous than a loaded gun; especially if'n you 'be' suffering from the after effects of M4* Mania.

* "M4" : Mucho Medical-Marijuana Madness

Now getting back to the topic of 'Radio'

Michael Savage [KTSE-AM 650 kHz] got into a rant about the Toxic {Poisonous} effects of Marijuana Smoke and it's overall relative harmfulness to one's personal Health compared [~4-to-1] to the standard Tobacco Cigarette.

Yeah, but...

No fair just quoting the "laboratory" results. In the real world, the DELIVERY system is everything.

The human lung is made to process AIR, not smoke...and it has been proven conclusively time and again that smoking (of any substance) CAUSES cancer...and emphysema...and cardiovascular problems...and a host of other ills.

So, nice self-serving rationalization, but no cigar.

Then why is there no elevated cancer rate among chronic pot smokers? No cigar but perhaps a blunt?

"People who smoke marijuana do not appear to be at increased risk for developing lung cancer, new research suggests.

While a clear increase in cancer risk was seen among cigarette smokers in the study, no such association was seen for regular cannabis users.

Even very heavy, long-term marijuana users who had smoked more than 22,000 joints over a lifetime seemed to have no greater risk than infrequent marijuana users or nonusers.

The findings surprised the study�s researchers, who expected to see an increase in cancer among people who smoked marijuana regularly in their youth.

�We know that there are as many or more carcinogens and co-carcinogens in marijuana smoke as in cigarettes,� researcher Donald Tashkin, MD, of UCLA�s David Geffen School of Medicine tells WebMD. �But we did not find any evidence for an increase in cancer risk for even heavy marijuana smoking.� Carcinogens are substances that cause cancer.

Tashkin presented the findings today at The American Thoracic Society�s 102nd International Conference, held in San Diego.Boomers Reaching Cancer Age"

Then why is there no elevated cancer rate among chronic pot smokers? No cigar but perhaps a blunt?

"People who smoke marijuana do not appear to be at increased risk for developing lung cancer, new research suggests.

While a clear increase in cancer risk was seen among cigarette smokers in the study, no such association was seen for regular cannabis users.

Even very heavy, long-term marijuana users who had smoked more than 22,000 joints over a lifetime seemed to have no greater risk than infrequent marijuana users or nonusers.

The findings surprised the study�s researchers, who expected to see an increase in cancer among people who smoked marijuana regularly in their youth.

�We know that there are as many or more carcinogens and co-carcinogens in marijuana smoke as in cigarettes,� researcher Donald Tashkin, MD, of UCLA�s David Geffen School of Medicine tells WebMD. �But we did not find any evidence for an increase in cancer risk for even heavy marijuana smoking.� Carcinogens are substances that cause cancer.

Tashkin presented the findings today at The American Thoracic Society�s 102nd International Conference, held in San Diego.Boomers Reaching Cancer Age" IM (libertarian)O, this is a law made to be broken. I would record (with a small hidden camera) everytime I was stopped for any reason and broadcast the recording on Youtube. I would also encourage others to do the same, and I might even start a bsiness installing the recording equipment on cars. If it happens, especially on either my, or public, property, it is my constitutional right to record it. After all, just what are the police afraid of? The truth? If they don't commit any crimes, then they have nothing to worry about. Don't forget. These guys are our public servants.....

I gotta hand to it to you, you keep coming up with the damndest bullshit that even tops my stuff.

No it is not illegal to videotape an officer performing his duty in public.
When they say it is illegal, have them identify the law. I'll bet they won't do it.
And there certainly is no law preventing anyone to broacast an officer's conversation.

Why? There's this little thing known as "Freedom of speech", for starters.

If they are in public, there is a diminished expectation of privacy.

An officer filmed giving a citation to a driver, for whatever reason, shouldn't expect his actions are private.

Yes and no. It would depend on the context.

A simple speeding ticket probably could be broadcast. If it's something that could harm an investigation, probably not.

>Why? There's this little thing known as "Freedom of speech", for starters.

How does that apply?

several states have now outlawed using ham radio while walking. this is part of their ban on ALL electronic devices while walking as a result of the lady who fell into a fountain while walking in a mall. however, instead of outlawing only texting while walking, the new laws state using ANY electronic device while walking is against the law and violators will get fined over two hundred dollars for doing such. And unlike the driving laws, there are NO exceptions for ham radio or cbl radio in these states laws against using ANY and ALL electronic devices while walking.

I'd like to see the text of such legal codes.
What states and where did you get this story?

Once again, you show us what ignorant asshole you are.
Post the proof, asshole. Post a link to an actual state law.

Apparently, several states have proposed the banning of certain devices while crossing a street. But most of those are just proposals. The first one, in arkansas, was dropped because the guy said there wasn't enough backing.

It is ridiculous on the face of it. If your wristwatch is electronic, you could get a $200 fine for checking the time while walking.... Or, how about listening to a radio while jogging? Or using a heart rate monitor while jogging?

It all boils down to people in the legislature who have nothing new to write laws on. So they dream this shit up because of one person got injured from it.

A couple of years ago Ohio passed a real doozie.
If you own a dog in ohio, you have to set up an escrow account for the dog.

Ohio law: No train may pass until the other has.

I've read that many states are now outlawing walking while chewing gum.
This will directly effect Radioguy.
Next up? The new Wrigley's gum packages will soon come with a warning label, similar to those on cigarette packages that state, "Warning. Walking and Chewing Gum At The Same Time Can Cause Injury or Death."

The violation of this law is a simple infraction, but can result in a $25.00 fine and the confiscation of the gum.

Yes, but it all illustrates a basic problem with our government. since the legislature is there to, "Paqss laws", they are not considered to be doing anything unless laws are passed. So, they busy themselves passing laws whether those laws are needed or not. In fact, there are way too many laws on the books now, and what the legislature should be doing is UN- passing laws, or getting rid of them. We need a law that says the legislature can't pass any law without first removing one of equal length first. And, they should get as many brownie points for removing a law as they do for passing a new one.

That's right. Walking and listening at the same time is forbidden.... As a matter of fact, listening in general might as well be forbidden. It has become a lost art.....

Ya know, I think I few western states still have on their books, that gentlemen must check their guns upon entering a bar. Or some such silly thing.
You might even find a law in a state that requires a vehicle being propelled other than by horses, to have an escort on foot waving a warning flag.

Well, these kinds of laws are quaint, and like artificts in a museum, do little harm. The laws I am talking about are modern concoctions that juswt restrict peoples liberties for no real reason, like the "cant walk with an electronic device" law. Every time some new law is passed, someone's freedom is restricted in some way. It the law also protects the freedoms of someone else, then perhaps it is a good thing. But when the law doeswn't protect anyones rights from transgressions by someone else, then I seriously question its constitutionality. As a libertarian, I am generally against any law that restricts one persons rights without protecdting those of someone else. The motorcycle helmit law is a good example of this. If I get into an accident with you, you are better off if I am not wearing a helmit. So whose rights does such a law protect? Of what business is it of society to be protecting my head? My head is my own business. If I want to break it, well whose going to be hurt by that? There will just be a little more air and water for the rest of the society. So, in general, I resent laws that protect me, or purport to protect me from myself and my own foolishness.
That's not what I want my legislature to be doing. The ultimate, and obvious endpoint of such laws is to put all of us in padded cells for, "our own protection". That's why I call these kinds of laws, "Padded cell laws". IOW, I think we should all have the right to harm ourselves, as long as in so doing, we don't harm anyone else.

I have a Realistic PRO-2003 AM/FM scanning receiver for sale. It is in very good shape and comes with the manual. I'm asking $45 plus postage for it.
You may contact me off the newsgroup.

Thanks

Henry

5-30 seconds in the microwave depending on the chip in question and how combustible the clothing you just purchased is. Problem solved.

not only swedish childrens BOOKS , also American childrens tv shows.
When I applied for a credit card, and clicked on the link for picking the picture I want on the credit card, and saw their rules, I found out the credit card company will not allow pictures from the childrens tv series H.R. Pufnstuf, because the credit card company considers it it a death symbol, too violent, and even the name is disallowed as it is conidered by the credit card company as a reference to illegal drugs and promoting illegal drugs, which is disallowed on their credit cards. Even when told it is a perfectly legal kids tv show, they disallow it as it is considered controversial since the name can be interpreted as referring to and promoting illegal druga, and nothing controversial is allowed on their credit cards eirther. They are afraid they will get arrested and imprisoned from some nimby worker at some other company taking them to court over those for offensive pictures and promoting illegal drugs if they allow anyone to have those images on their credit cards.

and you know what   In this day and age, they are correct that the nimbys will try to take them to court and imprison them for that if they allow it. no matter that it is a perfectly legal kids tv shows. after all, the nimbys are already trying to force all the people living in non-hoa non-CC&r houses on non-hoa non-C&R land into suburgatory. And the terrible part is so far, they have been winning, even in court. I have already seen several such non-hoa non-CC&R properties get taken over by CC&R-laden hoas without the permission of the property owners-homeowners.   land and homes which were non-hoa non-CC&R when purchased now have CC&Rs requiring hoas against the will of the purchasers who purchased them to get away from the fricking horrible hoas. This kind of takeover of non-hoa non-CC&R land by CC&R-laden hoas should NOTbe happening in America, yet it is, even though the U.S. constitution expressly forbids it from happening.

As for the credit card, no matter. I wasnt going to use any of the images from H.R. Pufnstuf anyway. In this day and age, the putrid police all over the country would use that as both probable cause and evidence of being involved in illegal drug activities and selling illegal drugs, even though I have done no such thing and have never done any such thing, and never will. and it is only pictures from an old Saturday morning childrens tv series.

In California, Grand Theft, a felony, is defined in section 487 of the Penal Code, as:
"(a) When the money, labor, or real or personal property taken is of a value exceeding nine hundred fifty dollars ($950), except as provided in subdivision (b).
(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), grand theft is committed in any of the following cases:
   (1) (A) When domestic fowls, avocados, olives, citrus or deciduous fruits, other fruits, vegetables, nuts, artichokes, or other farm crops are taken of a value exceeding two hundred fifty dollars ($250)."
Until amended, it used to spell out a number of avocados, etc., regardless of their value.
Why the special treatment for agriculture? The agriculture lobby.

While not yet law, consider:
http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2011/01/25/ny-sen-wants-ban-on-chatting-while-crossing-street/

A quick google search finds that New York and Illinois proposed laws relating to use of electronic devices while walking, but those measure were defeated. I found no references to laws enacted.

Shouldn't we also ban using such devices while brushing your teeth? You could poke your eye out with that electric toothbrush if you got distracted by a cellphone call. And what about while looking out the window? You could fall over and kill yourself.  While eating? Imagine the damage a fork could do! Especially if you were tapping your feet to the beat of music on your Ipod. And what about while engaging in marital activities in the bedroom?
Thank God for our state legislatures. They have their work cut out for them.
Perhaps we should kick this up to the federal level, since it's common across the states. I wonder how the rest of the world has handled these important issues.

Not satisfied with just outlawing cb and ham radios which use hand-held microphones, Canada has now outlawed hands-free ham radio by hams, and hands-free cb by cbers, yet still allows two-way radio use by taxi cab drivers, school-bus drivers, and businesses, police, etcetera even though all those people have MUCH LESS training in operating a two-way radio than hams do.

such as almost none, if not none, although it is usually none.

even low-class redneck cbers know more about how to properly use a radio then those people do.

yet the only ones allowed to use it are the ones with little or no training while the ones not allowed to use it ae the ones with the proper training in how to use it.

If the police had the proper training, then they would not be arresting people under phony radio laws which they claim is the actual law.

so that alone is proof the police do not have the proper training in howw to properly use a two-way radio since they do not even know the radio laws that they are trying to enforce, and therefore should also be prohibited from using a two-way mobile radio if the cbers and hams, which have the actual training as it is required to get their ham raadio license also are not allowed to operate their two-way radios mobile.

The names and call letters have been changed to protect the innocent.

Once upon a time, there was a ham radio operator who moved into a homeowners association which had the very very very vague rule "NO ham radio transmissions allowed on homeowners association property".

Originally, the ham thought this was a very very very specific rule which allowed him to transmit from ham radios off of homeowner association property while he was physically off of homeowners association property.

So he moved into the homeowners association and unlike certain other hams which hide antennas on homeowners association property in violation of the homeowners rules and the contract they signed, this ham actually obeyed the homeowners association rule and transmitted ham radio only when he was physically off of homeowners property using radios, and repeaters, and irlp and echolink..

However, he soon found out it was a very very very vage rule when the big bad homeowners association foreclosed his house on him for violating the rule and claimed that it was a very very very specific rule which prohibits him from making ham radio transmissions even whie he is off of homeowners property and using ham radios off of homeowners property while he is physically off homeowners association property.

It started because while he was making a ham radio transmission off of homeowner property while he was physically off of homeowners property, another homeowner in the association heard the ham radio transmission on his own scanner (no the hams scanner since he didn't have one other than the one he had off of homeowner association property, such as at his parents' house) and complained to the homeowners association about it.

Then the big bad homeowners association stated he broke the rule and fined him. The ham refused to pay the fine, stating that he never ever broke the rule and only made ham radio transmissions when he was physically off of the property and never ever even had a ham radio on homeowners asociation property at all.

Then the ham quoted the rule to the homeowners association as proof he never ever broke the rule.

Then the big bad homeowners association replied back with that it did not matter if he was on homeowners association property or not, that even though he was off of homeowners association property when he ade the ham radio transmissions, since the ham radio transmission could be heard on homeowners property , that it "was indeed a ham radio transmission on homeowners association property and in violation of the homeowners association rule of "NO ham radio transmissions allowed on homeowners association property"" and the fine stands and foreclosure stands if he eefused to pay the fine.

The ham refused to pay the fine, and wanted to take it to court. However, he could not afford to take it to court.

The big bad homeowners association decided to take it to court to collect the fine from him he refused to pay.

The big bad homeowners association then payed off all the lawyers and judge including the ham's own court-appointed lawyer.

So the judge wrongly ruled in the homeowners association and against the ham, since he and the lawyers were getting kickbacks from the homeowners association.

The judgee wrongly ruled that the correct interpretation of "NO ham radio transmissions allowed on homeowners association property" was a very very very specific rule which meant that the ham was indeed in violation of the rule and contract he signed even though he was physically off of homeowners association property when transmitting because since the tranmission could be heard on homeowners association property, and therefore the ham radio transmission was made on homeowners association property in violation of the homeowners rule and contract th ham signed, even though the transmissions were made from off of homeowners association property.

Plus had to pay court costs which he could not afford for losing the case.

Angered and miffed by this, the ham wanted to appeal the case, but could not afford the $1,500 application fee the appeals court required just to file an appeal (not counting all the court costs afterwards), the ham decied to get revenge against the homeowners association.

As revenge, the ham gathered some of his ham radio buddies, such as NO44TXU, NO4DWS, NO4STU, NO4DFG, NO4SWQ, etcetera and had them all go onto the homeowners asociation property and start transmitting on their ham radios while physically on homeowners association property..

This angered and miffed the homeowners association who tried to gget them to stop transmitting by saying it is a violation of the homeowners association rules.

The hams replied that they are not bound by the homeowners association rules since they never ever signed a contract with the homeowners association.

Then the big bad homeowners association tried to claim they were trespassing.

Then the hams replied they were not trespassing since they were gusts of the ham who got fined and lived on homeowners association property and were just visiting.

Then the big bad homeowners association tried claiming since they were guests of the ham who got fined and lives in the hoa building and are visiting him, that they too are bound by the homeowners rules even though they never signed any contract with the homeowners association at all and are in violation of the rules and will be sued if they refuse to comply with the rules to stp transmitting ham radio on homeowners association property.

Then the hams replied that even if the ham who got fined was in violation of the homeowners association rules, that the rest of them are not in violation because unlike the ham who got fined and foreclosed on, all their call letters start with the letters NO and the homeowners association rules plainly state "NO ham radio transmissions allowed on homeowners association property"

Not quite.
The Ontario law is requiring users of various devices to be "hands free" by 2012.
Basically, no mic in the hand.

It is not all of Canada, just Ontario.

Another dumb, unenforceable liberal law. How can they possible know whether you are using a hands free transceiver or not? You are driving along with both hands on the wheel and talking..... For all they know you are talking to a passenger, or singing along with the music on your car radio. And why would it be any more dangerous than doing either one of those two things?

I don't know if it's still that way, but back in the 70's, if you even wanted to have a car radio in your car, you had to apply for a special permit at the DMV, and they would levy a tax and stamp your registration with the approval.

Where do you come up with this shit?
You don't say in which state this happened.
Furthermore, no HOA anywhere has the authority to enforce it's rules while off it's defined property or on public roads.

Can you at least identify the county court this happened in?

Ach... I thought I had mentioned  the state. It was Wyoming, and they certainly did have such a law. I remember the headache when I tried to register my first car there. I ended up using a pocket transistor radio on the dash rather than pay the extra money (I was only 18, and didn't have a lot of disposable income at the time..

Check into the FCC rules (assuming this is in the USA) as while it's been a long time if memory serves the FCC preempts HOA rules.

Sounds more like a cash strapped city law than a state law.

There was an unwritten "law" that said red cars belonged to the fire dept.

Yeah.... That makes a lot of sense. Pay a tax for the privelege of killing yourself or someone else in a car accident.... but that should tell you what its all about.. Money. If the government sees some way to get some extra money from any of its citizens, they'll jump on it. They don't need any excuse. They just collect money for the same reason Hillary climbed Everest.... "Just because its there".

My sister used to live in "Sun City West". A Dell Webb community in Phoenix
AZ, and she said that a neighbor couldn't persue his Ham Radio Hobby, because the neighbors complained about the antenna array on his roof.

There is probably some medical term for, "Fear of new devices". But for sure there should be one for, "Grabbing an opportuniuty to steal money from the taxpayers." It is a disease one catches while on the campaigne trail.......

Wouldn't broadcasting an officer's conversation be considered 'disclosing the contents of a radio transmission to a third party'? It always was a part of the communications act. I guess it would apply to video 'broadcasts' also.

Oh, and Radioguy, I don't usually do this in public forums, but since every poster chose to include your screed in their response, please repeat after me: they themselves.

Have you had any luck fixing the audio problem with your Regency R1080? I h= ave the same scanner with a similar problem. It scans fine but no audio at = all, not even on weatherband. I do hear a hiss on non-active frequencies an= d turning up the volume control increases the volume of the hiss so it does= n't appear that the speaker is the problem. I haven't yet attempted any rep=

This is currently in the courts. And it's very much under test in the courts in Chicago, where such an ordinance WAS passed recently.

> And there certainly is no law preventing anyone to broacast an officer's

Actually, rebroadcast of anyone's conversation without their knowledge and consent is illegal, according to the regulations of many radio services. And, recording the voice of anyone without their consent is illegal in many states. You can video them, but you can't capture the audio. That's why security cameras are silent.

And, again, it's currently under court test for live action audio/video of police activities to be broadcast without consent.

> Why? There's this little thing known as "Freedom of speech", for starters.

You may wish to review that Amendment, for starters. "Freedom of Speech" only refers to the ability of the citizen to speak out against the government without the government striking back in petty retribution. It does not confer a consequence free right to publicly disseminate someone else's speech without permission. "Freedom of Speech" also refers ONLY to the government not attempting to silence criticism of the government.

But considering several persons in Congress, including, to name only one, Senator Barbara Boxer calling for the censure, defunding, and summary termination from their positions, of meteorologists who do not sign onto the Global Warming Agenda; and the current program of silencing, isolation, and revocation of permit for protests in Chicago related to the NATO conference, you may wish to speak your protests to your representatives before 'Freedom of Speech" is a noble memory of a day before The Tyranny.

COPY THIS MESSAGE FAST BECAUSE JEWS AND TRAITORS DELETE IT FAST!

After Jews created Israel illegally, Israel became the main base of criminal operations for the most insane type of Jews called Zionists.
Israeli Jews murdered JFK in 1963 because JFK did not allow them to have atomic bombs. Read the book "Final Judgment" by Michael Piper, available online in pdf, also google for video presentation by author. Since Americans let the Jews get away with JFK murder, just four years later in 1967, Israeli Jews murdered 34 servicemen of American Navy, and seriously wounded 174, when Jews tried repeatedly to sink the USS Liberty and blame Egypt for it. Watch online the video interviews with the actual survivors, then compare the facts to the lies spread by Jews through their propaganda outlets like wikipedia. One interview with a survivor should have been enough to turn all responsible Jews and American Traitors into fertilizer within 24 hours. Since Americans let Jews get away with JFK and USS Liberty murders, Israeli Jews murdered 3000 Americans in 9/11, this time to make USA invade Afghanistan/Iraq for Jews, and to enable Jews to impose their Jew Laws (Jaws) like "Patriot Act". Watch online the video "9/11 Missing Links" made in cooperation with contacts inside FBI, CIA, National Security Agency, US Military, who are still loyal to USA. All Jews covered up for Israeli Zionists, with the help from Traitors in Washington DC, because all Jews always protect themselves as single Jew Tribe.

Jews are not the sweet/smart/suffering individuals as they present themselves using their own Jew propaganda machines. Jews are full of hate and suffer from a whole range of genetic mental diseases like schizophrenia, paranoia, psychopathy, sexual perversions like pedophilia/homosexuality/etc, and many others, that make them prone to criminal/parasitic/corruptive behavior.

Banking Jews started their corruption of USA in 1913 with creation of the Fed. The Great Depression of 1930's was the direct result of Jew corruption. Jews used Great Depression as an opportunity to corrupt/expand the federal government because parasites like Jews exploit host organisms through central systems. After Hitler came to power in 1933 and removed Jews from all important positions, Germany experienced unprecedented economic growth while the rest of the world controlled by Jews suffered through Great Depression. Jews did not like this precedent and immediately in 1933 Jews declared economic war on Germany. Hitler invaded Poland in 1939 only because Poland was infested with five million Jews who constantly were harassing Germany. Jews used their media power to brainwash White Americans to fight White Germans for Jews. All the official "history" has been written by lying Jews and it should be called Jewstory instead of History.

Jews are not Whites but insane mongrels who hate Whites. Jews started all the jokes about Whites like Dumb Blondes, Rednecks, Polish Jokes. The sheeple merely parroted after the Jew media. Jews are the ones who promote all those Blacks you see in the media, sports, schools, or business. Jews constantly stir up conflicts between Whites and Blacks by propagandizing the shootings of Blacks in order to take your attention away from all Jew scams. Since 9/11 Jews intensified their "Racism" tactics and their famous "Holocaust" tactics because more Americans learn every day that Jews did 9/11. Jews know they are the biggest Criminals on Earth, and that is why Jews manufactured the "Holocaust" Scam where Jews masquerade as the biggest Victims on Earth. Jews are Masters of biggest Lies and Deceptions.

Without their control of brainwashing media, Jews would be nothing more than insane rats. Only Jew scams enabled many Jews to masquerade with Ivy League diplomas, Nobel Prizes, Oscars. Jews run their college/Awards scams like Wall Street or elections scams. Independent investigations of all Ivy League colleges would show that most Jew students are frauds with standardized tests taken by somebody else or their test results falsified by corrupt admissions offices. The biggest Jew Nobel Prize winner Einstein was a fraud and plagiarist. All you know about famous Jew "scientists" is what Jews told you, the same Jews who made you believe the "Manned Moon Landings" or "Man-Made Global Warming". Jews never invented anything but Scams and Hoaxes. Jews in Israel rank well below average in IQ scores among all nations. Basically, Israel is a hellhole where tens of billions of dollars of American taxpayers' money are wasted on worthless Jews each year.

Jews control the US Government illegally. The American democracy is a myth. Most of "US Presidents" since 1913 were crypto Jews (FDR, Eisenhower, LBJ, Obama with Jew mother) or Jew puppets. Recently, Jews in US Congress imposed on Americans yet another Jew Law (Jaw) called "National Defense Authorization Act" that threatens any American who tries to defend The US Constitution with its Bill of Rights. However, the ultimate power lies in the economies, now all mortally wounded by Jews. Jews were too greedy by exporting all real American jobs and forcing Americans to live on debt for too long. Once enough good Americans reach poverty levels, the game will be over for Jews, especially if their psychotic relatives in Israel pull another USS Liberty or 9/11.

How can Jews control the US Government with such a small Jew population? How can Jews amass so much wealth if Jews are not very intelligent? In order to answer such questions you have to look at the Big Picture painted for you by Mother Nature a long time ago. For thousands of years, each society had a small parasitic ruling class and a large working class needed to sustain the society. Mother Nature created such a social order to facilitate the evolutionary process because living conditions for humans were very tough. Mother Nature knew that a ruling class does not have to be very intelligent because any substantial intellect leads automatically to creativity needed only by working class. Instead, Mother Nature developed our human psychology in such a way that a ruling class could rule merely by displaying symbols of power like ornamental clothes, big buildings, rituals, propaganda, and so on. For this to work, a ruling class had to be filled with psychopaths only smart enough to band together for this scam to go on, and a working class had to be filled with intelligent people busy with doing all the creative work. At least the ruling and working classes were ethnically related until around 18th century when the biggest parasitic psychopaths called Jews learned enough about the game played by ruling classes. At that time, Jews decided to have a piece of the ruling action for themselves by creating central banks or starting revolutions.

Jews were around for thousands of years. Clearly, Mother Nature created Jews on her bad hair day because Jews hated all non-Jews including her best creations. This hatred made Jews the perfect tool to exploit the weaknesses of both ruling and working classes of all normal societies. By destroying the old social orders, Jews acted like maggots decomposing dead animals. Mother Nature kept Jews around for thousands of years because she needed them to change slowly the old social orders. Otherwise, Mother Nature would abort Jews a long time ago because Jews lack the intellect to create anything. Decomposition of the old social orders was largely completed by Jews in early 20th century, at least in the Western World. Since then, Jews have been trying to become the ruling class for the whole world. Apparently, Mother Nature now uses Jews to internationalize all societies in order to speed up the evolution process because there are clear benefits in global cooperation. However, Mother Nature is well aware that Jews are useless beyond this point.

Jews corrupted all politics, economies, military, sciences, business, medicine and healthcare, education, agriculture, and all others. Through their insanity, Jews started two world wars and are about to start the third one, Jews killed millions with their invention of communism, Jews polluted the whole world with nuclear technologies, Jews destroyed agriculture and food supplies with GMO crops, Jews killed millions with the poisons produced by their pharmaceutical companies, Jews imposed on societies their sexual perversions like pedophilia and homosexuality, Jews run all organized crime including illegal drugs and prostitution, Jews own most of the pornography business, and on and on.

The old ruling classes would not be able to do so much harm to the working classes because there were many different societies with different ruling classes and the classes within each society were ethnically related. This means that fraudulent ruling classes could last forever without the working classes ever waking up. However, Mother Nature wants to make all psychopathic rulers extinct once they served their purpose in Nature. Mankind cannot live forever while locked in the old psychology addicted to psychopathic rulers, Jews or non-Jews. That is why Mother Nature used the biggest parasitic psychopaths Jews to force out the old parasitic ruling classes first, and now Mother Nature is using the same Jews to exploit/harm the working classes in order to initiate the next evolutionary step. Many people are already ready to deal with the Jew problem. However, most people still refuse to deal with it because they are still locked in the old psychology developed by Mother Nature thousands of years ago. The latter group of people will wake up at the latest when the economies collapse.

Realize that Mother Nature made Jews screw up the attack on USS Liberty so that the survivors could tell you the truth about the US Government controlled by Jews. Mother Nature created the Internet for you so that you can research all Scams and Hoaxes done by Jews. In other words, Mother Nature realizes that it is time for you to change and Jews have to go before Jews do too much damage. Mother Nature keeps Jews around so that you can see for yourself with your own eyes that something is wrong with you. Help Mother Nature by not watching any Jew TV or movies! Help Mother Nature to change your own psychology. Otherwise, Mother Nature will bring the change violently!

If there are any Old Time Radio listeners in this group I would be interested in your input. Using creativity, production, acting, writing and your totally unobjective personal taste as the criteria, rank your top ten old time radio programs. Mine are:

1. The Adventures of Harry Lime
2. Crime Classics
3. Mr. President
4. Suspense
5. Frontier Gentleman
6. The Whistler
7. Gunsmoke
8. I Was a Communist For the FBI
9. You Are There
10. Unit 99

Points will be awarded inversely e.g. 10 points for a #1 ranking, 9 points for #2, etc. Totals will be calculated weekly for one month or however long interest in the topic remains.

Leader in the clubhouse:
The Adventures of Harry Lime: 10 points.

Incidentally a fantastic website devoted to Old Time Radio is http://www.otrcat.com/index.php/ I have no stake in the site, just feel they deserve a plug for their contribution to keeping the OTR hobby alive and well. One could spend many evenings reading the well written synopses and histories of hundreds of OTR programs produced during that wonderful era.

Agreed on these. My adds:

Broadway is My Beat
Columbia Workshop (IIRC the name. Experimental stuff.)
parts of the Yours Truly, Johnny Dollar run

X-1 / Dim X adaptations of excellent sci-fi

My absolute favorite was CBSRMT, but that's not Golden Age.

Greetings All!

Just watching The Howling and they prominently displayed a Bearcat 101 that they were using. They were displaying the scanner in the scan mode and you could hear it trying to receive but the display keep scanning. Oh well. I have on here that I have never used just sitting on a shelf. Picked it up for a couple bucks at a thrift store and here it sits. Have a great weekend! Jon Boy.

Belfort Instrument Company (dba Belfort Instruments, DigiWx AWOS, Gamma Scientific, UDT Instruments, Advanced Retro, RoadVista, KR Acquisition Corporation, Utilipoint International, QuickStrategy & Scientech) is once again trumpeting that they provided wind sensors to the Wright Brothers.

DO NOT BELIEVE THIS COMPANY BUNK (aka BULL-SHIT)

BELFORT DIDN'T SUPPLY AN FUCKING THING TO THE WRIGHT BROTHERS (there are NO historical records or archives to back this up)

BELFORT MANAGERS ARE SKILLED AND MANIPULATIVE FUCKING LIARS

BELFORT AIMS TO PROFIT BY LYING, DENYING AND CONCEALING

BELFORT INSTRUMENTS SELLS TO TERRORISTS NATIONS (ie. Pakistan)

Belfort Instruments Digiwx has t-shirts emblazoned with the phrase: "The Wright Brothers Relied on Us"

American history seems to tell a very different story!

There is a Belfort Instruments company press release at:
http://www.prweb.com/releases/2003/6/prweb67805.php

It reads: "The Wright Brothers monitored these (i.e. Belfort's) instruments as they prepared for their famous flight on December 17th, 1903."

Here is what the Wright Brothers really wrote on December 17, 1903:

"We had a 'Richard' hand anemometer with which we measured the velocity of the wind. Measurements made just before starting the first flight showed velocities of 11 to 12 meters per second, or 24 to 27 miles per hour. Measurements made just before the last flight gave between 9 and 10 meters per second. One made just after showed a little over 8 meters."

And then there is that indisputable picture of:
WILBUR WRIGHT USING A RICHARD'S ANEMOMETER (picture)
http://www.google.com/search?q=3Drichard+anemometer+orville+and+wilbur http://wings.avkids.com/Book/Wright/history1_19012.html

Utilipoint International CEO Bruce R. Robinson is trying to re-write history to include mention of Belfort and/or Friez. This is a shame and a sham!

Buy anything except Belfort Instrument Digiwx AWOS from Bruce Richard Robinson and company.

This is a year and a half later, and the price of my PSR-800 from GRE was about $380, as opposed to the $500 or so for the Home Patrol, which basically does the same things.

Is it worth it:? With weekly updates from RadioReference, and easy updating of the firmware and software, when compared to the PRO-95 I had before the PSR-800, in my view the answer is yes.

Toronto was relatively easy to program, even if, because it is in Canada, one cannot just enter a zip code and let it pull in everything that might be relevant. In Houston one enters a zip code such as 77030 and it runs with that and installs, from scan list 150 upwards, everything it thinks relevant for Houston and nearby parts of Texas. No such ability for Canada and Canadian cities, but it still has all the RadioReference lists for all of Canada

The sound is definitely better than the PRO-95, also built by GRE. The use of a microSD card and the built in tap, etc. all make it worth it in my view.

Will it handle non-standard encryption? No, but if you can find software that will do the job, a feed from the stereo earphone plug to the computer's microphone in plug permits you to run the intercept to the computer.

Anyway, I have a few minor issues but in the main I rather like the PSR-800, its ability to record transmissions as received, and its relative ease of use and control.

And now Belfort Instrument Company (dba DigiWx AWOS, Gamma Scientific, UDT Instruments, Advanced Retro, RoadVista, KR Acquisition Corporation) finds itself in United States Bankruptcy Court as evidenced by:

http://www.amrcaseinfo.com/pdflib/1631_15463.pdf

Belfort Instrument Company is selling to a known terrorist country as evidenced by mention of the DigiWx AWOS on their corporate homepage sold to:

Pakistan
Lahore International Airport (LHE/OPLA) RVR System, Lahore Pakistan

And then there is word of this:
During the first two weeks of January 2007, U.S. air strikes targeted four sites in southern Somalia formerly under al Qaida control where terrorists have been training and hiding for months.

"As we speak now, the area is being bombarded by the American air force," a Somali government official told Reuters two weeks ago.

The U.S. attacks targeted an area close to Ras Kamboni, a coastal village near the Kenyan border where many Islamists are believed to be hiding after being ousted by Ethiopia-backed government forces, the official added.

Four places were hit -- Hayo, Garer, Bankajirow and Badmadowe, the source said. "Bankajirow was the last Islamist holdout. Bankajirow and Badmadowe were hit hardest," he added.

The Pentagon confirmed only one air strike that took place in the south of the country, saying that it was part of a wider offensive aimed at an al-Qaeda cell that includes suspects in the 1998 bombings of U.S. embassies in east Africa and a hotel in Kenya.

Meanwhile, ABC News quoted U.S. and French military sources as saying that American U.S. special forces were working with Ethiopian troops on the ground in operations inside Somalia.

Following a thrust by the U.S. military, U.S. special forces discovered a Belfort Instruments Digiwx AWOS weather reporting system on a hill south of Ras Kamboni.

The Belfort Instruments Digiwx AWOS station was not operational as it had suffered a direct military hit from an explosion of unknown origin. But the Digiwx name could be clearly seen imprinted on the 15 foot tower which now lays on it side in pieces.

U.S. troops subsequently uncovered handheld Digiwx weather receivers in two of the camps previoulsy occupied by al-Qaeda terrorists which apparently had been left behind and abandoned.

How the Belfort Instruments Digiwx AWOS system made it to Somalia and into terrorists hands is still unknown. Whether al-Qaeda and Osama bin-Laden organizations are employing Digiwx AWOS units in other parts of the world is currently unknown.

U.S. troops have been advised to be on the lookout for additional Digiwx AWOS units under Al-Qaeda and/or Sunni/Shiite control in Iraq and Afghanistan.

U.S. special forces are reportedly monitoring the two known wireless frequencies that Digiwx AWOS transmits on, notably 464.6 and 464.75 MHz. British military sources report that signals on both frequencies have been detected but only occasionally as the terrorists seem to be running Belfort Instruments Digiwx for only short periods of time.

Belfort Instrument Company (Baltimore, MD, USA), the original manufacturer of Digiwx AWOS, has had no comment.

Why would an American company be "aiding and abetting" known terrorists organizations around the world while doing business in pursuit of the almighty American dollar? Maybe you would want to contact them and find out why:

Much has been written about Belfort Instrument Company's DigiWx AWOS anonymously for good reason because the Belfort DigiWx "fur" has been flying since at least 2005. One can find mention of Belfort's inferior weather station named DigiWx AWOS as witnessed by:

Ten reasons to NOT buy Belfort DigiWx AWOS (keep reading)
http://www.aviationkb.com/Uwe/Forum.aspx/piloting/5041

I also am of the belief that Belfort Instrument Company has been actively censoring anyone and any words which dishes dirt on this inferior DigiWx AWOS weather station.

Now we have word from Belfort Instrument Company of a "Recommended Service Bulletin" dated April 21, 2011 and numbered 2011-1.

SUBJECT: Unicom Transmission

MODELS AFFECTED: Belfort DigiWx AV100 with either Technisonic or ICom radios

TIME OF COMPLIANCE: At owners discretion

There have been some discussions by users at congested airports of not being able to receive the AWOS broadcast over the Unicom or the weather report stepping on other Unicom communications. The following suggest may decrease the problem.

1. On the DigiWx radio, set the squelch well above the squelch break point this, in turn requires more power to break the squelch which means traffic has to be closer to the airport to receive the weather report.

2. The DigiWx standard broadcast mode is using 3 MIC clicks. At busy airports, there isn t a way for the DigiWx to determine if someone is clicking the MIC 3 times for the weather or three (3) separate pilots are clicking the MIC to talk. If this is the case, it might help to change the number of MIC clicks for weather to 5 MIC clicks. Both of the above recommendations will help reduce the number of broadcasts from the DigiWx and they are easy to do and don t cost money.

Belfort Field Service Team

serv...@belfortinstrument.com

Well, I fly from one of the airports in MT with one of these DigiWx AWOS pieces of SHIT. And its beyond me to understand why changing the mic clicks at a congested airport is going to fix the problem of a DigiWx which clogs the UNICOM frequency. Just like Belfort said, DigiWx cannot distinguish who is clicking the mic 3 times. The DigiWx is stupid. When it hears any 3 mic clicks, it activates and clogs an already congested UNICOM frequency. We pointed this out to Belfort 3 years ago and THIS WAS AND CONTINUES TO BE THEIR FIX?

If I cut thru the emotion of everything ever written about the Belfort Instrument Company DigiWx AWOS, I am now a believer. Belfort doesn't know the first phucking thing about designing an AWOS to broadcast over a UNICOM frequency. I have talked with numerous pilots from other airports who have the SuperAWOS and the Vaisala AWOS. And they just DON'T have these clogged frequency problems.

Yep, you read that right:

Have you heard about the Meadow Lake Airport AWOS Fiasco?
Quoting, http://meadowlake-airport.com/AWOS.htm reads in short:

"Executive Conclusion: Of the four candidate AWOS manufacturers, only two meet the threshold and objective system performance levels. These are systems provided by All Weather Inc (AWI) and Vaisala. The SuperAWOS by Potomac Aviation does not pass an initial cut due to maintenance problems encountered with their SuperUnicom installed at Meadow Lake airport."

"The Belfort DigiWX "AWOS" is not a true FAA fully commission-able AWOS. Its complete sensor suite is not certified. Installation of this system at 00V means that we would not have our weather data (METAR) accessible in the federal database which means that Flight Service and other sites such as ADDS, XM weather, WSI, etc would not not have Meadow Lake weather data. The only certified weather info would be altimeter and visibility. While this does allow Part 91 and 135 instrument approaches, the inability to incorporate its complete METAR data in the federal system is a deal-breaker."

"The apparent initial cost savings of the initial Belfort DigiWX acquisition is minimal and not worth the lack of functionality and usefulness to the national aviation community. Life-cycle cost of the Belfort system over 15 years is over $27,000 higher than the Vaisala system."

"It would not allow us to transition to a three letter airport identifier."

"Bottom line is that the Belfort system represents false economy, minimal pilot usefulness and is inconsistent with providing the aviation community services that make this airport attractive to current and future pilots and businesses."

"Of the remaining systems offered by AWI and Vaisala, Vaisala is the preferred system."

The complete report highlighting DigiWx shortcomings can be found at:
http://meadowlake-airport.com/AWOSanalysis.doc

Ron Lee from Meadow Lake Airport wrote in Pike's Peak Flyer: January 2009

The SuperUnicom was shut down in early August 2008 due to harmful interference on the 122.7 MHz frequency A grant was submitted and approved to get an AWOS III P/T using FAA funds. Our portion of the cost is around $4,000 although incidentals may drive it higher... but far below the $25,000 previously budgeted for an AWOS. One MLAA Board member is attempting to force a system that is not fully certified down our throats using the flawed rationale that it is cheaper that the fully certified systems offered by All Weather Inc and Vaisala. A major down side to the Belfort system is that pilots will not be able to access METAR data through Flight Service, ADDS, on their on-board weather systems, etc. We will very likely be unable to acquire a three letter airport ID and maintenance will cost much more over its lifetime than with either of the fully certified systems. Plus in its current implementation, there is no obvious upgrade path to getting present weather and lightning information available in an AWOS III P/T system. It is crucial to the safety of this airport and our usefulness as a destination airport within the National Airspace System that we get a state of the art AWOS. With the FAA grant, it is amazingly affordable. But it is essential that local pilots become informed on this matter and contact all Board members to express their view. My opinion... based upon extensive research on behalf of MLAA members... is that we need a fully certified AWOS. The minimum configuration is AWOS III, with AWOS III P/T highly desirable (objective). It needs to be the number one priority acquisition with a target installation not later than Spring 2009. It must not be sacrificed to pay interest on the land acquisition.

If you're considering Digiwx AWOS... READ THIS ANALYSIS FIRST!

Following up on the post regarding the UN-APPROVED, UN-CERTIFIED and UN-OFFICIAL weather data spewed by Belfort Digiwx AWOS, one also needs to note that they only sold 2 units during all of 2011.

Bruce R. Robinson's 10 reasons to NOT buy Belfort Digiwx AWOS:

Ten reasons for not buying Belfort Instrument Digiwx AWOS:

1) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified wind speed
2) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified wind direction
3) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified temperature
4) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified dewpoint
5) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified density altitude
6) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified visibility
7) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified precipitation measurement
8) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified precipitation discriminator
9) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified ceiling measurement (ceilometer)
10) no FAA Approved or FAA Certified lightning detection

About Belfort Instrument Company:
Belfort used to be a leading provider of weather instruments to the government, professional meteorology and aviation markets. Key words: "use to be." They never provided any wind sensors to the Wright Brothers despite their fantastic assertion that they did! Historical archives available at the U.S. Air Force National Museum (1100 Spaatz Street, Wright-Patterson AFB, OH 45433) tells a very different story and specifically mentions a "Richards" anemometer which Wilbur Wright held as pictured at: "http://wings.avkids.com/Book/Wright/history1_19012.html". The Belfort aerovane wind system on U.S. Naval aircraft carriers are currently being replaced with ultrasonic wind sensors from QPI (11207 Single Oak Road, Fredericksburg, VA 22407) which just won a $94 million dollar contract for the Moriah Wind System. Belfort wind speed and direction anemometers found on the ASOS platform are now being replaced with ultrasonic sensors from the Vaisala Group. Belfort Instruments Model 6000 visibility sensor will no longer be a part of the U.S. Air Force's OS-21/FSB program come early 2007. And despite a $500,000 U.S. government grant from NASA's Small Aircraft Transportation System (SATS) program in 2004 to build a low-cost ceilometer, Belfort didn't possess the technical smarts nor the engineering know-how to accomplish the task. So now they're importing the Eliasson CBME 80A laser ceilometer from Muir Matheson. As one can readily see, Belfort is no longer setting any standards of measurement in the weather instrumentation world. And now Belfort is propagating lie after lie about their fabled company history while trying to steal thunder from the accomplishments of the Wright Brothers. According to the National Museum of American History (12th Street and Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20560), Belfort founder Julian Friez never made it to Baltimore to set up shop until sometime in the 1890s even though Belfort officials fraudulently claim the company was founded in 1876. Thus, there was no 125th anniversary for Belfort to celebrate in 2001 even though they hosted a party to which no one came! Belfort's proclamation that it is the "Oldest Weather Company in the World" is simply yet another Belfort lie as Thomas Romney Robinson invented the first wind anemometer in 1846, six years before Julian Friez was born in 1852. Belfort doesn't even know it's own company history so they just make it up! You should wonder what other crap (eg. Digiwx AWOS) they also make up! For more information about Belfort Instrument and DigiWx, visit dogsh*t.com

Ellen H. Robinson LIKES MEEZ BIG BLACK MAMBA
http://groups.google.com/group/alt.airports/msg/08232a7de634561c
December 29, 2010

Ellen H. Robinson will SUCK and FUCK you!

Onze afternoon, i wasz catchin a snooze in my backyard on a sunny day. much to my surprize, i lifted my hat and found my neighborz Ellen H. Robinson unzipping my pants. she gestured to me with herz indexes finger over herz slender lips to be quiet. I say figures okay, she then unzipped my pants and reached in and tuggzed on my big black mamba! Imediatelzly, my blacks a mamba becomes engorged with hot burstz of human excitementz. With a big tugz with both of herz handz, Ellen H. Robinson pluckz me black mamba to a full erctionz! she then opened herz mouthz and slipsz it over my full manhoodz. she gagz and coughz a bit but begins her suckin action upz and downz! she repeatedlyz goez faster and faster untilz i feelz my venemouz black mamba release a massive explozion into herz mouth. At first, she triyz to swallow it allz but my venomouz fluidz keepz jaculating in herz mouthz. Then, she pullz herz head awayz with herz handz still clenched on my black mamba. she coughz and gagz a minute over the concretes but then placez herz lips back on myz black mamba. Once aginz, she jerks it hard withz both handz. Again, I'z begin to release a strong venemouz fluid at a fullz flow into herz small mouth. Myz black mamba squirmz in herz handz as i release all of my venemous fluid from myz snake into herz mouthz. i'z kannotz waitz til my neighbor Ellen H. Robinson sneaks back over to my house for somz afternoonz delight. Next timz, me thinks i shall let my black mamba go hogwildz in herz anuz. if she suckz me this good next time, i shall let myz snake ezcape in herz cunt andz give her zome my brotherly love. Myz black mamba has neverz felt so good after Ellen H. Robinson wrapped herz lipz around the big headz on meez mamba!

In Canada one cannot use the zip code method, which on the PSR-800 fills in scanlists starting at 150 so still leaves the first 149 empty. [Tried the for Houson's 77030, so found out]... So it is relatively easy to go through the lists and change the scanlist number to an empty lower one, such as 1 or 2 or whatever you have not used for those specific things you want to keep, then delete all of the rest via a CTRL-A and then a delete, should you want to go that route. In Canada you are forced to be more selective to begin with, since you need to pick Canada, Province, County and then go down from there, in the main.

So I agree that the ZIP code process is a bit of overkill as it seems to pull in all of Texas if you use a Houston zip code, but it is still easy to strip it down in the PSR-800 IF you want to do that. I suspect it is simpler to just go to Houston and pick what you want from the available choices. That is what I did for my part of Canada.

If you know where Timmins is, you can find these are standard descriptions for the following:
     Ontario Provincial Police
     Ministry of Natural Resources
     Ministry of Transport Ontario

According to the rumor mill at radioreference.com GRE, the maker of Radio Shack scanners, has stopped making scanners. There is nothing official from GRE but they have fired most GRE US personnel and a ham radio seller has posted an article stating that GRE has stopped making scanners.

If it is true then Uniden will have a monopoly on the scanner market and prices will certainly rise.

The corporate site is still up, and I still see several GRE scanners selling here:

Will Radio Shack confirm?

I am looking for a service manual & schematic diagrams for a Regency Flight Scan Model # ACT-T-720A, 16 channel, VHF AM airband scanner.

I found an owners manual for this radio but I also need the service manual w/schematic diagrams.

Also, any working &/or for parts/repair radios of this make/model would also be appreciated.

I will pay for the hardware, shipping, & insurance via paypal.

I found a Regency ACT-T-720A scanner that isn't working correctly, that I may be able to fix or use for parts, that the owner said he'd give me for free if I pay for the shipping.

Thanks.

Did you do a honest Internet Search.

If you can fix a pocket AM / FM transistor radio, you can fix that model of scanner.

If you do not have the equipment to work on radios - then the manual will be of no use to you.

Most times the memory was the first thing to go in that particular model.

Capacitors second.

Transistors and resistors - rarely...

Most ones I saw the front end was out of them or the LED's burned out.

Got to have a lot of hours on them to get the LED to burn out.

Built a 2m 1/2 wave rooftop (20 ft. up) and am confused about what I should use to connect it to my Uniden BC 100. have lots of TV cable but is there something better?

Thanx,

That is fine to use for your scanner feedline. The only time ohms are important is when you are transmitting.

Thank You Matt,

Been wondering about that since that since the old days of 300 ohm TV twin lead (1965).

Thanx Again,

It's an honest-to-god spy station. One spy is sending messages to another spy. They do it either in Morse code number groups or they have someone speak number groups.

I don't completely agree with that. Yes, once you get it working it's not a big issue[*]. But if you have mismatches you have standing waves, and if you have standing waves you have certain cable lengths that give you weaker signal levels. So it's still helpful to use a matching adapter (300 ohm to 75 ohm, for example) where appropriate, and reasonably high quality coax. The difference between 50 and 75 ohms is probably not a big deal here, though.

So are 2 meter signals the only things you'll be sending through this path?

[*] You are probably not looking for long distance reception (meteor scatter? earth-moon-earth?). For local reception, signal levels don't matter so much. The receiver has a preamp and automatic gain control, no doubt.

George

I don't understand the type of antenna he / she built.

A half wave what? J Pole?

A little secret - take a television antenna - UHF / VHF, turn it on it's side if you want. You can even use a antenna pre amp. USE a antenna rotor.

Connect the antenna to some good RG 6 Quad Shield and run it into your house, into the power injector, into some more good Quad Shield and adapter to BNC.

Turn the antenna in the direction you desire to receive in.

I used a Winegard 8200U antenna and a Channel Master CM 7777 pre amp and Channel Master rotor @ 24' in my backyard and was able to hear stations that I could not hear with my Yaesu 8900 and my Diamond V2000 antenna nor my Cushcraft 4 element 2 meter beam antenna.

If all you want to do is receive, it does not matter if the cable is 50 ohm or 75 ohm nominal impedance.. You are not going to get standing waves from reception - only transmission.

Even better cable is the hardline that the TV cable company uses from pole to pole. I think its nominal resistance is about 77 Ohm's, but its loss rate is . 07 or something or another in like 100 feet @ 500 Mhz.

Enjoy the scanner, do not expect to hear much with a home brew vertical dipole antenna.

Umm. Not true. Transmission and reception follow the same laws of physics.

The reason you care for transmission has to do to some extent with losses. If you have large standing waves you may actually be losing power in the transmission line itself. Not to mention that with a mismatched load you may not actually deliver much power to the antenna, but that depends on the design of the transmitter, and of the antenna tuner if one is present.

A receiver has a tremendous amount of gain and can compensate for all sorts of mismatches - so you won't notice any difference except on signals that are rather weak to begin with. It's at that point you'll find that your transmission line has become a notch filter that blocks certain signals without you knowing it.

By building an antenna for a specific frequency band I am assuming that that's what he wants to hear. For best reception or transmission of any given frequency band and an antenna designed for that band, go ahead and do the matching - why not?

Completely different thinking applies to random antennas typically used for scanner listeners / SWLers. There, you accept what you get for antenna performance and hope the gain in the first RF amp compensates for a haphazard antenna / transmission line combination.

You'd be surprised. I built (actually, adapted) an offset-fed dipole from an old rabbit ears (the kind that comes with the set) which is in my 2nd floor 'shack'. Does a decent job across multiple frequencies.

Not getting the expected performance from this half wave dipole. Think I'll modify to a quarter wave.

To Refresh....Looking to receive only on a scanner. 2M ham band in case of emergency. Using NWS broadcasts to test.

Thanks for any input, folks

Most hams work with vertical antennas on 2 meters.
Try running your dipole as a vertical, not as a flat top horizontal.

Phoenix - at some point in your life, you have to spend money.
We would all love to be cheap - but that isn't always going to cut it.
A antenna is a antenna is a antenna...
It doesn't matter if it is a scanner antenna, a television antenna, or a radio antenna.
What does matter is that it needs to be resonant.

2 meters FM takes place between the frequencies of 145 and 148 MHz.
If you want to listen to those frequencies - you need to build a antenna that is resonant on those frequencies and you need a receiver that can be programmed for your local repeater frequencies and you also need to monitor the simplex - non repeater frequencies.

The FM National Weather Service uses frequencies in the range of 162 MHz

MHz   162.400

MHz 162.425

MHz 162.450

MHz 162.475

MHz 162.500

MHz 162.525

MHz 162.550

Trying to use the national weather service to determine how a 2 meters antenna works is a lot like trying to use diesel fuel to see how your gasoline engine runs - without having the proper fuel to try it.

Although there is a mismatch between a antenna that is horizontally polarized and vertically polarized - if the repeater is close enough - less then 65 miles away, and if the antenna exhibits enough gain - and if the coax has a low loss rate at 146 Mhz - then it shouldn't make much of a difference...

Take a YAGI television antenna, stick it up as high as you can get it in the air - OUTSIDE and listen.

If you are an apartment dweller in a concrete / steel reinforced building and you try to use an indoor antenna - you are not going to be very successful.

You have to be smarter then the antenna...

Here is a repeater list for the coordinated repeaters in your area..

http://www.artscipub.com/repeaters/search/index.asp?state=Arizona

Just remember that a repeater does not have to be coordinated to be legal for use.

In Western Pennsylvania, only one third of all the repeaters in use are coordinated...

Here is a list of the Amateur Radio Clubs in Arizona - pick one and go to their meeting and explain your problem and ask for help and I am sure that someone will come up with a solution...

If you think you can study and pass the tests - you might want to look into getting the Technician Class License manual and doing some studying and getting your ticket and becoming a ham and not just listening...

No, it is not. 5900 is a shortwave frequency, not a scanner frequency.

TEXAS BOARD OF PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS
February 28, 2008 Board Meeting Disciplinary Actions

W. Gary Sokolich , Newport Beach, California �V File B-29812 - It was alleged that. Sokolich unlawfully offered or attempted to practice engineering in Texas (...) Sokolich chose to end the proceedings by signing a Consent Order that was accepted by the Board to cease and desist from representing himself as an ��Engineer�� in Texas, from any and all representations that he can offer or perform engineering services and from the actual practice of engineering in Texas (...) Sokolich was also assessed a $1,360.00 administrative penalty.

Hola Ronald, para realizar una instalaci=F3n de redes primero de todo hay q= ue asegurarse de haber hecho un buen dise=F1o de la red. Esto es b=E1sico s= i queremos que todo funcione correctamente. Lo recomendado es hacer un dise= =F1o en bloques ya sea con el modelo jer=E1rquico o con el modelo Enterpris= e Composite Network Model (ECNM)pues son los que Cisco recomienda. En este = post: http://bit.ly/dise=F1o_redes lo explican m=E1s detalladamente.
A=FAn as=ED, si sigues teniendo dudas en Mercadoit http://bit.ly/tienda_it =

From your handle, I take it you're in Ocean Cnty.  I'm in Camden Cnty.  Can you give a little more specifics as to where you're located, and some of your 'catches'?

I've been under the impression that GRE made scanners don't like high powered transmissions on some frequencies.

You can buy a 5/8 wave antenna and use a large baking sheet as a ground plane. That will give you the best chance for 2 meter reception. They are inexpensive. If you want something more directional, you can find plans for a yagi. These are inexpensive as well. Google the web. They are all over the place.

Yep, very helpful device for all my scanners. You just have to play with the dial a lot to prevent overkill.

If that's the mod by Bill Cheek, he died a good many years ago. Could be why he's not replying to your email...

I have for sale back issues of the NASWA Journal (SWBC Club), (even some pre 1990, when it was known as FRENDX.

I have all issues from Jan. 1982 to Dec. 2010 up for sale for best offer, shipping cost to your location will have to be calculated.

All are in good condition, many with the usual highlighting of interesting information.

Please make your best offer to w 6 s w l@iserv.net. (remove -'s between w6swl)

I would prefer to sell as a single lot, but after a time I will consider selling off the years individually.

Feel free to pass this message along to others as you feel appropriate.

That would be a ok scanner, except the technology has changed, and the newer modes of digital are not covered by this scanner
A Ideal scanner would do both digital and analog...

The funny thing is - they still block cell frequencies - although the cell phones all went digital and encripted - hence you wouldn't be able to hear them anyways...

AND - you need a much better antenna and situation to listen to UHF digital then you did low band VHF analog - so although it might be high tech, that does not mean that you will still be able to hear everything you could when it was analog.

KRLD - operates with a effective radiated power of 50,000 watts.
Probably when it was built, there were no houses where the transmitter is located. As urban sprawl continues, and property values increases, being in prime real estate becomes an issue.

I would think that there is a problem with their ground radial system, although 50,000 watts is enough power to light a light bulb next to the tower.

You could complain to the FCC, but since they have been licensed since 1925? you are not going to get much satisfaction.. The FCC might even tell you, if you didn't want to be exposed to that much RF, you shouldn't have moved there in the first place.

Or you can use Ferrite Beads on all the lines which will take away the common mode currents that are building up on the lines.

You can buy the software here - http://www.butel.nl/products/arc5/arc5.html

Or you can download it from here - http://parnass.org/tk5/

Radio Reference supports a site which will automatically program it to your local area, from what I read. I do not belong to Radio Reference - hence I don't know anything about it.

Looks to be a real PITA to program - without a cable and software.

I think it's kind of cool, but KRLD will hook you up with a signal blocker if you request it - or you could get something at Radioshack.

Traditional solution: blocking circuit in the feed line. Thatsa lotta blocking. But if you're not AM dxing you have a bit more hope since it's likely the harmonics and the odd mixer products (heterodynes) that you'll be trying to remove.

Hard to do a highly directional antenna that covers a lot of shortwave bands (lotsa bucks) but something like that would be a start. And you can use tuned lengths of coaxial feedline to try to null out some of the signal without going to the bother of building or buying a fancy nulling device. Neither of these is likely to solve the problem outright, though.

You _could_ put a Software Defined Radio in another county and access it via the 'net. Don't know if they have scanner versions, but the devices can be quite versatile, so why not?

As far as non-radios picking up radio signals, buy higher quality equipment or have someone electronics savvy insert bypass caps and other items as described in the ARRL Handbook. If it comes in via RCA/S-Video get higher class cables and add ferrite beads (there are snap-on varieties that do not require surgery on the cable), at least at the end that's nearest your equipment's inputs. May also have to do the power cords, maybe in conjunction with a high quality surge suppressor at the wall.

Get to be friends with the transmitter engineer. Can't hurt, and if you're on good terms he may know of a few things you might try.

Simple blocking circuit: a 365 pf variable capacitor and a 240 microhenry ferrite core inductor or coil, connected in series and connected between the two conductors of the feedline, all placed in an aluminum box. Readily available RCA or "F" connectors can be used to connect to the feedline.

Sometimes I see people use two of these, say in the same box with an aluminum baffle between the two parts, loosely coupled with, perhaps, a reasonably small capacitor, in the feed line (or a third, parellel wired, tuned circuit) between them. Nice little hacker's project, and something that probably tunes to a good null, but once you're trying to put three tuned circuits in a homebuilt trap you may be better off buying a commercial product.

There are some problems that cannot be solved by high-pass filters or nulling circuits. These are harmonics, or, less likely but troublesome when present, heterodynes. Both can be caused by bad metal-to-metal contacts in the environment - gutters and downspouts, fencing, even the buried ground system below the tower. Don't have any experience tracking these things down, but there's plenty of information available on reducing RFI - radio frequency interference. Start with the Radio Amateur's Handbook and other publications of the American Radio Relay League.

Calculations:

You might consider an ERP of 50K watts versus, say, a ham radio at 100 watts. Usually a ham radio at a distance of one city block pefectly acceptable while the 50KW AM band signal is well known to cause problems.

But let's say we want to reduce down to 50 watts.
That's 1000:1 in power. It's is common to just count the number of decimal places in ratios of this sort - amplification or attenuation - so that's 10^3 - 3 decimal places. Communications engineers call one power of 10 a Bel, so it's three Bels, or, more commonly, 30 deciBels (dB).

So what you want is something that reduces the unwanted RF signal by at least 30 dB. Thats' doable.
I suspect you could find a high-pass filter with a low-frequency cutoff of 2 Mhz and an attenuation of 30 dB, for a 50 or 75 ohm feedline, without much of a problem.

Rethinking...

I chose the standard tuned circuit components used in the input stage of an AM radio over the years, but looking closer I would guess that for a low impedence feed line you would get better results - a sharper null - using a smaller inductor and a larger capacitor.

So let's say we divide the inductance L of the coil by 10.

For 1080 Khz, you need 1/sqrt(L C) = 2 pi f, or C = 1/(4 pi^2 f^2 L). This means you'll need to tune C to about 900 pf for a 24 uh coil. If you use a 365 pf variable C and add 750 pf or so in parallel to it, then, changing to using this smaller coil, you should be able to tune the null plus or minus a few hundred Khz around the station frequency.

Please do not post raw binary to Usenet.

There are well established ways to do this, and most newsposting software will automatically use them for binary files. Whether binaries should be posted here at all is a separate issue; some may object to that as well.

The hjsplit software may split binary files, but it appears to generate a collection of smaller files that are still considered binary on most operating systems, and definitely outside of the standards (RFC's) for Usenet.

To attach your files, even those output by hjsplit, use standard attachment techniques.

Clue: if there is not a "mime type" in the headers created when you attach your binary data, you haven't done it properly.

Sadly, this clown has worn out his attempts at humor.

His shtick is getting old and tiresome.

It was entertaining for a while, but now it is time to move on to something a bit more, shall we say, creative?
Look, Jane, Look. See this story again?
Yes, Jane. It is boring.

I have a radio shack pro-96 5500 channel scanner. It worked fine for a couple years. I plugged it in one day and listened for about 10 minutes and noticed it was quiet. Nothing on the display, no power to the unit. Ive tried new cord, batteries, etc. Any help.

Have you checked to see if its still programmed?
Did you by chance use the wrong battery box ? using the wrong carrier with the wrong batteries can create a real problem.. corrosion ETC:

IIRC
If the batteries run down on the Pro-96, it loses its ability to do anything. no squelch no noise - NaDa...

IF its not the problem, take to Rat shack and have them send it for repair, the Pro-96 is a digital and while its not the best, its well worth keeping

IF you have a real need for a scanner anyway.. a new digital scanner is not cheap.

[posting for a friend who lacks Usenet access]

Hi,

I have a few questions re: setting up and monitoring a Motorola digital trunked radio systems on a Uniden BCD396XT.

Of particular interest is the Kennedy Space Center system. We are planning to head down for the last few shuttle launches, and wanted to be able to set the radio up ahead of time.

The first time we went down for the shuttle rollout, I had the system programmed as a P25 system, While you could hear the data when in "hold" mode (both control channel and fother data traffic), but never heard any voice traffic. The screen displayed "ID Search", but no audio.

I've been told that I need to program this system in as a Motorola Type 2 SmartZone, rather than a P25 system. So, I have re-programmed the system. I'm a little bit out of range from here to test this ahead of time, but would like to make sure it's programmed right before we go.

Was hoping someone out there who has had success receiving this system (or one like it) could give me a hand verifying that I have things programmed correctly.

Here are my questions re: programming this system into the BCD396XT:

1. ID Search/Scan: which one should I select, 'search' or 'scan'?
    (what is the difference between these two settings?)

2. What (if anything) do I need to enter into the "Fleet Map"?
    It's currently set to "Custom".

3. Priority ID Scan is set to Off by default, is this correct for receiving this system?

4. I read that you need to set the status bit to 'Yes' for the KSC system. is this correct?

5. Set End Code: Should this be set to 'Analog+Digital' for the KSC system?
   (it is set to 'Analog' by default)

6. Audio AGC: should this be set to 'Digital' for the KSC system?
   (it is set to 'Analog' by default)

7. Under Enter Band Plan -> Custom -> Offset -> Polarity, i have the offset as 380 to match the values listed on several websites. Do I leave the Polarity setting set to "+ Polarity"?

8. "Set Modulation" defaults to "Auto", can I leave this as is, or do I need to specify NFM or FM mode?

9. As for the talkgroup tables, will the radio populate those from the control channels, or do I need to enter them manually?

10. The RR site lists "System ID: 0A08" and "Connect Tone: 105.88". Not sure if I need these or where they would go.

My sources for the system and frequency info are:

http://www.radioreference.com/apps/db/?sid=808
http://home.roadrunner.com/~scanner/military.htm

I think that covers the programming questions. If you can think of anything that I missed, or have other helpful hints on programming and scanning this type of system, your help will be greatly appreciated.

Here is the specific system information as programmed into the radio:

Edit Sys Options:
- Set Number Tag: 000
- ID Scan/Search: ID Search (?)
- Set Delay Time: 2 secs
- Edit Fleet Map: Custom (?)
- Priority ID Scan: Off (?)
- Set Status Bit: [Yes] (was set to Ignore) (?)
- Set End Code: Analog (other options "analog+digital" and ignore) (?)
- Energency Alert: Alert Tone (off)
- Set ID Format: Decimal (or Hex)
- Rvw ID Srch L/O: Nothing Locked
- Clear All L/O IDs:
- Set Audio AGC: Analog (or Digital) (?)

Edit Site:
  - Edit Name: Site 1 KSC
  - Edit Quick Key: 1
  - Edit Startup Key: 1
  - Edit Band Plan: Custom
    - Band Plan 1:
      - Set Base Freq: Lower: 406.1 Upper: 410.8375 (?)

    - Offset: 380 (?)
      - Select Polarity: + Polarity (or '- Polarity') (?)
    - Spacing: 12.50 khz (?)
- Set Frequencies: (see below for sites/frequencies)
- Set Modulation: Auto (or NFM, FM)
- Set Attenuator: Off (or On)
- Set Lockout: Unlocked (un-locked or lockout)
- Set Hold TIme: 0
- Set LocationInfo: Latitude, Latitude, Range and GPS Enable)
- P25 Waitime: 400 ms

Here is the information I found from the web on this system:

(from the RR page for this system)
System Type: Motorola Type II SmartZone System Voice: APCO-25 Common Air Interface Exclusive
              ^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^
Does this mean the system is a full digital system, or a mixed analog/digital system?

The websites both specify the band plan settings as:
Lower: 406.1, Upper: 410.8375, spacing: 12.5 and Offset: 380
Since the radio gives "800/900 Standard", "800 Splinter" and "Custom", I selected "Custom" and entered the settings from the websites.

I understand. Under Program System, there is an option "Edit Group", which is currently empty. Do I need to put anything in there, or will the radio figure that out.

Thanks for the help!

A Personal opinion,,

That depends on where you live and what you monitor.

In many cases now, with the change to digital systems for emergency services.
If you lived in our metro area,its really better to sit it on a shelf and purchase a new digital scanner..
rather than put any cash into repairs, if needed

Not familiar with that model. but the first thing I would check, would be the backup battery IF that model had one. If it has one, & Its more than a year old, change it.

I know the older programmable scanners that I had (both table & handhled models)
the battery getting old or low voltage would result in the error message , and lost freqs/channels.

(got several old scanners that are pretty much useless now, with the shift to digital. (both Rat-shack & Bearcat))

Using a digital now and NOT really pleased with the audio quality at all.   normal digital radios sound great, but the scanner folks are not up to speed on the new stuff yet.

Thats one of the great things about the new breed of scanners while older units will get the weather, the new one has the SAME decoder built in, so once you set the codes for your area, you don,t have to deal with weather alerts for the whole state..
and leave it on in SAME setting during possible rough weather.

A radio that still works is a potentially useful radio...provided, I suppose, that it's not a spark-gap transmitter. <grin>

I have a BCD396T, a BCT-8, and a PRO-94, all trunking scanners and of course the 396T is a digital trunking scanner.

Nevertheless, the bulk of my public safety monitoring is done on one of my two PRO-2045s, and all of my military airband listening is done on the other 2045.

I have three other conventional handhelds that get used for various special tasks such as marine VHF, utility companies, etc.

I even have an old rockbound Regency that I still use for monitoring a local ham repeater that retransmits the UHF downlink frequency for a couple of amateur satellites during each pass when this area is in the footprint. Makes it a lot easier to work guys through the sat when you don't have to track the bird to hear the downlink. :-)

But when an old analog scanner no longer works...hey, working models are practically a dime a dozen on E-Bay and at hamfests. I won't waste much time or any money tryng to resurrect a dead one...that's time and money and can find much better uses for.

I vote against "hammer" though - I'd rather take it out to the back 40 with my .22 and use it for target practice!

I see that Mike Oxlong is playing god again, he seems to enjoy locking up a lot of threads. Now we will get this long thread from him stating blah blah.
After he reads this post. I will also probably be locked out as a member, oh well. This guy has to be put on a short leash and muzzled.

I recently bought a Uniden HomePatrol scanner and I love it. However, I don't get much aircraft on it. Actually, I don't get any, and I live right under approach and departure lanes for three major airports, LaGuardia, Kennedy and Westchester, NY. There's planes overhead constantly, and I'd love to hear the chatter from both the planes and terminals, towers etc. Unless I'm missing something on this HomePatrol, it's about useless for air traffic., Any suggestions for a scanner for aircraft, that won't break my wallet? Handheld or desktop, really doesn't matter. Thanks.

With so many systems going to digital, and a lot of people upgrading their scanners, you should be able to pickup used A/C band sacnners fairly cheap.

Bearcat 2020	(20 channels)
Bearcat 220XLT	(200 channels)	handheld, BNC connector
Radio Shack Pro-2021	(200 channels)

among others.

 YOUR MILEAGE MAY VARY ***

since the aircraft radios are AM band, the range for a ground based listener are not good without an good outside antenna. unless you are fairly close to the tower, your not likely to hear the tower.

and since aircraft transmissions are usally very brief, the use of a scanner in scan mode, makes it very hard to catch one.

best to find out which freqs are in use for your local airport. and set one freq , and listen to only that one. say the John F. Kennedy Approach/Departure 127.40000

That will give you an idea what is going on..
Then work from there.

trying blind to scan all the possible air band freqs will just prove to be an excercise in frustration.

this radio covers the airband..... if you can't hear the planes on it then you won't hear them on any radio

Check the user manual on how to enable/Disable(lockout/unlock) each service

To what has already been said upthread, I will add this: Also check that the squelch is set properly so that the signals can open the squelch. This detail often gets overlooked; on some scanners I've seen the AM sensitivity be a third of what it is on FM. For example, my PRO-2045s have a sensitity of about 0.5 microvolt on VHF-FM but need 1.5 microvolt on AM to get the same 20 dB S+N/N ratio for an AM signal in the same frequency range.

The other thing I can't emphasize enough: The antennas supplied with most scanners are better than nothing - but all too often, not all that much better than nothing, and some of them are absolute garbage. If the antenna's your problem, you can get a better antenna for less than it would cost to buy another scanner, even at a hamfest or garage sale - and that might still need a better antenna once you've purchased it.

For indoor/portable use, I like the Diamond RH77. I have four of these and they flat out rock! For an outdoor antenna, almost anything more sophisticated than a coat hanger outside will work better than anything inside, but for maximum frequency coverage in an omnidirectiona antenna it's tough to beat a discone.

Hope this helps..

I just read a review of that scanner in the new QST. Seems like it ought to do everything you want. Can you look at the list of frequencies it is scanning in the aviation band? You might want to go to a pilots' shop in the area and get the latest FAA airport/facilities directory for your area, which will list the tower and other frequencies for airports, and also the approach/departure control and and center frequencies. Also you pick up some of these by listening on the ones you already know about. e.g. if you listen to control tower for departures, they will tell a pilot to contact departure control on xxxx, and then if you listen on that frequency you may hear them telling the aircraft to contact center on xxxx. Also note that the last digit of the frequency is not mentioned, so it could be zero or five. If the controller says 123.27 that is really 123.275.

Anyone know where I can go about getting the software for the Motorola CT250 without spending 400$ to program my radio once.

If there is an open source alternative I would be ecstatic, however, it appears that the HVN6053E software is my only option, any help would be appreciated.

Thanks,
Haysead

I have a number of these Brand New USB Serial cables with DB-9 connections. It will come with the correct Driver for Windows 98/Me/2K and XP use. The cost is $6 that will include shipping by USPS 1st class mail.

Additional cables are $3 each. So if you order two cables the cost will be $9. Payment by PayPal.com is accepted or you can pay by US mail.

Here is a stock photo of the cable I'm offering:

It is supposed to be PL-2303, but it doesn't work with the PL-2303
PL-2303 in Windows 98/XP.

I am a recovering Windows victim. I have "hit or miss" results with that dongle on Linux. I am using an ancient Belden Palm Pilot Dock Adapter USB-to-serial, but the LEDs on it make radio noise. Not enough to disrupt comms, but it's there and it bugs me.

I am looking for the MVT 7000 or 7100. The unit must be in good working condition . Most important: the rotary frequency change knob must operate. I use it t0 design SAW transmitters and it helps to plot the tolerance with RSSI as you swing that Frequency select knob. My unit finally died after 15 years and after buying a 'new' 2184 Radio shack triple trunking Scanner find myself disappointed to say the least. For my work the MVT was better. Please post if you have one! Thanks,

If it's of any interest, I have an MVT-7200 sitting on the shelf in the basement. I don't think the packaging or manual survived the move from my original apartment, but it has belt clip, soft case (vinyl window is clouded and yellowish from age) and antenna. I could probably scrounge up some operating instructions too ... if this would work for you please let me know and I'll check that it still works.

I tried emailing you but your UseNet gateway does not provide a "real" emailable address to reply to.

I quit flying because of the TSA. This just gives me a second reason.
Southwest was the best airline; now their planes are breaking (and that was a NEW plane).

I have a Uniden BC200XLT, a radio I bought new in the late '80s. It works fine and meets my needs, but the battery has died.

I'm looking for suggestions on where to get replacement batteries, either the whole slide-on package or a rebuild kit.

Thanks...

A couple of years ago I took my dead battery pack to my local Batteries Plus store and they rebuilt it for about $30.

Where do you come up with this shit?
This township law you refer says I can't drive my 1955 Chevy because the township consider it to be junk? Even though the state has issued a proper license state and is well maintained?

Have you ever considered challenging these HOA's assholes in court?

As well as the township?

Did you not state once this was in Arizona?
I looked up the law on Arizona HOAs and that law clearly states, the HOAs do not have any legal authority concerning vehicles on a dedicated street.
Dedicated, has a wide meaning. The only way an HOA could have total control of a street is to declare it "private".

What you need to do is take action. Get off your lazy armchair ass and get involved with the HOA. My brother did and how he's even on the board.

FYI, if there is a federal law on the subject, the federal law takes precedence over any other jurisdiction law. So no, the township can not restrict a ham radio operators license in any manner.

yeah I know. I'm just having fun with his stupid ass.
How many times in the past six months has he posted the same shit over and over and not once replied to anything I've said.

I wish the Gov't would pay me to sit on my ass all day and think of dumb shit to type in to my computer and post to see what folks with a life will type in to reply to his Gov't financed drivel.

Tip Of The Day:
Never reply to any newsgripe post that starts with "X-No-Archive: Yes". It's a sure sign of a troll that doesn't want to archived so you can't prove it's them in a few years. Of course, they better keep copies of it so they can repost it years later and save having to rethink about it.

A lot of this stuff looks like a guy named Randy in other places. Very similar types of writing...

Are these video systems for backing up being outlawed on RV's and Postal trucks as well?

so according to you, a police department can just decide to use the 27 mhz c channel 14 for all their communications and when some traveller comes along , hears nothing and calls out eaker reaker 14 to his friend, the police can claim ge interference and arrest him forr interfereing with them since it is "unintentional interference" ecause your state law says so even though the FCC says it is open to ALL citizens of the U.S. and will NOT be assigned to any one

where does your state get off superceding FEDERAL laws???

your police department wold sure have a field day setting up their regular police operations on 27 mhz CB channel 19 ans arresting all the truckers and other highway travelles who decide to transmit on their "exclusive police frequency"' of CB channel 19 even though the police werent talking at the time since it is "interfering with them" to do so since they decided to use CB channel 19 as their main police channel 24/7.

well, if they can afford it, someone is going to get sued if the FCC yanks their license for simply possessing a radio which the FCC itself said is perfectly legal for anyone to have.

when they did not make any illegal transmissions on any frequency at

when the cops confiscate it simply because it is capable of transmitting on the police fequency which is either a ham radio frequency in most of the nation or a CB frequeency in the entire nation.

Only for dickheads who stick the monitor to the middle of their windscreen in front of their face thus blocking their vision forward, which would be the direction they most travel in

In Australia is has been law for many many years that you can't put anything on your windscreen that blocks your forward vision, yet Navigation units and reverse cams are all the rage, because you can place them down at dash level and they don't block your vision instead of the middle of the screen so you can show off to others that you have such things and making you look like a complete Dick.......... Much like 'ol Radioguy does every time he makes a posting

Where do you come up with all this CRAP????

There is NO provision in CFR 47 Part 95 SubPart D for ANY local Police Fire or other Public Safety Outfit to commandeer any authorized Frequency for their specific use. Therefor your premise is BOGUS from the get-go.. Any local LEO who tries to enforce, such a contingency, will find him/her self in a serious confrontation with the local FCC Office when it becomes know, and the local US Attorney soon there after.
I have known local Podunk Sheriffs, to be locked up in their own jails, by a US Marshal, for tangling with FCC field Agents, about such violations of CFR 47.

Sonny, you need to go back and reread CFR 47 Part 95 AGAIN.
the frequency above in NOT a CB (Citizens Band Radio Service) Frequency, PERIOD. It is a MURS (Multi-Use Radio Service) Frequency, and th two are totally different Radio Services in CFR 47 Part 95.... Lordy Your an

To bring clarity to this thread with facts:
1.) A Law Enforcement Agency is a Business Entity (Under Catagory of Public Safety). They have to operate on their ASSIGNED FREQUENCY / FREQUENCIES.
2.) The FCC, LONG AGO dis-banded the ragulation of the "Citizens Band" or CB radio service. The regulation of such is left up to local law enforcement i.e. "City of Montgomery, AL vs Marc Parker". The FCC does not care, UNLESS you are running so much power it is interfering directly or by harmonic / IF means with Miltitary, Federal Government (goes for licensed hams also such as FBI vs Alabama Intercity Ham Link), or other vital communications as deamed by the Director / Assistant Director / Local Field Office Director.
3.) You may send a FOIA letter to the FCC if you do not believe one word of this, but what you get back if you don't believe me, will just back up the fact you are full of S#!t.
4.) How do I know? I spent several years in Government and as a Communications Commander for a Local Public Safety Entity in Florida. And I have been a Ham since 1999, and stay well versed on rules and regulations due to my proximity to several major USN and USAF bases (7 within 25 miles).

Well, Not exactly, CFR 47 Part 95 SubPart D, is still the Law of the Land, and just because the FCC doesn't spend much time dealing with these stations, does NOT mean that there are NOT any Rules covering this Radio Service. What the FCC did was to cover all Radio Stations in this Service with a Blanket License, that is Nation-wide for any US Citizen. This is the same type of License, they use for the FRS and MURS Radio Services. The Rules covering EACH of these Radio Services are in CFR 47 Part 95, for anyone to read, should they actually take the time, and this is where the Commission sets out the Frequencies, Emissions and Power Levels, ALLOWED for use in each of these Radio services. There is no such thing as a "Local Field Office Director"

There are EICs (Engineer in Charge) over each Field Office, or a Resident Field Agent, for the smaller Offices. Their boss is the Regional Director for their FCC Region, and he Reports to HQ.

You may ask how I know all this? Well, it is really simple, I am a reTired FCC Resident Field Agent, and have many associates, and friends, still in, and working, for the Commission.

No of course you're not a troll. You're just an ignorant fool.
But the post was typical of all the bullshit you've posted.
Repeatedly.

I have a Regency R1080 scanner. It scans good, it programs good, but when it stops on a station you can not hardly understand the audio, I have replaced the output audio IC chip LM386 and all of the capacitors around it, plus the speaker. That made no difference. It seems worse on UHF, where all you can hear is the carrier and the audio seems non existant, but on the wx channels you can hear audio, but almost so distored as unable to understand.
I would sincerly apprecte any thoughts that you may have. Thank you....

Is that a misprint? I'll stick with my BCT-8. Cops here are too broke to

You did all that work and yet you don't know how to use spell check?

Maybe the scanner is junk and needs to be replaced.
How old is this scanner?
internet says it was made in the late 80's...
Where is your location?

Nothing wrong with the spelling, maybe you need better glasses

Maybe you could have just not answered if you didn't have any real answers for the guy

I've seen the Uniden listed for more than half that price at other suppliers.

I=92m just fishing for some honest opinions here before I drop $500 on a new scanner. I recently sold an unblocked AOL MKIII I bought in 2004, because it became basically useless for the purpose of full coverage scanning. I never lost my fascination for the hobby, so I=92m considering a Home Patrol (or a Pro-106) to at least enjoy the trunk tracking capability it didn=91t have.

The problem for me is that with all this encrypting going on, is it really worth the money? I mean how much longer can I take advantage of casual eavesdropping before I end up with an expensive paper weight I can=91t use for anything else? That=92s why I=92d appreciate your take on it.

Thank You.

I bought one about a month ago based on the recommendation of a friend who has long been into scanners. I love it. I live in SW Connecticut and the range is amazing. I get Long Island, NYC, up near West Point, well into Connecticut and NY State. The only department I'm aware of that is encrypted is my own home city's police department. But all the surrouding PD's are clear, as are fire and EMS. Even the Connecticut State Police are broadcast in the clear. This is the best money I've soent on a "toy" in a long time. My only complaint is that even though I live in area close to three major airports, there's not a lot of aircraft frequencies in the databas. That's something I hope will be corrected with updates in the future. The only change I've made on the Home Patrol is I switched out the antenna that came with it to a Watson WSMA-801, which was another recommendation from my friend. It's about an inch longer and the reception is great. One thing I did that I'm glad I did is that the sound coming out of the HP isn't all that great, but it has a line out plug, so I plugged it into my computer speakers and WHOA! it's like sitting in dispatch it's so loud and clear. The only screwy thing is that the line out on the scanner takes a 2.5mm plug and my line in is 3.5mm. I couldn't find one locally so I hit up eBay and found them cheap and qith free and quick shipping. I can't recommend this little scanner enough. I'm glad I bought mine.

Just so happens I was born and raised in Connecticut myself, but reside in Oklahoma now. Your favorable review mirrors many of the ones I've read so far for this rig. People are loving it for the most part, although there are those who think it's way over-priced and generally resist the idea of auto-programming scanners. My problem is this encryption nonsense putting the thrill out of commission. I suspect it won't be an issue with city police activities in my area for some time to come, but how much longer can I count on that when the local EMT company has already taken the plunge? I realize no one can answer that except myself after I've made the purchase, but that's why I'm ambivalent about dropping $500 to find out. I understand that GRE is poised to release its own auto-program handheld for about the same price at the end of this month, but again, it still boils down to taking a big risk on ending up with an expensive paper weight and that's what's bothering me.

After all, I had a beautiful unblocked MK3 I paid over $600 for that was rendered pretty much useless for anything other than listening to HAM operators, TV broadcasts, broken police transmissions and local two-way radios, and consider myself mighty lucky to have sold it for $250. Thanks for your reply.

There will always be unencripted transmissions on AM and FM.

I know that's true Barry, and that's why I've decided not to buy another scanner.

After all, the best activity is encrypted anyway, and I can think of better things to do with $500.

Thanks to those who replied ... and to those who never got the chance..

In Australia at the present there are still some police using analog, and there are still many less interesting services such as buses and some taxis using analog.

Also aircraft and CB radio.

It's california dude. They do as they damned well please.
Federal law says possession of marijuana is illegal, except in california.
Persons who cross the US border illegally are violating federal law, but not in california.

Mixed Decision from the California Court of Appeals in Palmdale, California Antenna Case
TAGS: court of appeals
02/08/2011

On January 27, 2011, the California Court of Appeals, Second Appellate District, issued its Opinion in the antenna case of Alec Zubarau, WB6X. In several respects, it is a win for Amateur Radio in California. Working with his ARRL Volunteer Counsel, Len Shaffer, WA6QHD, Mr Zubarau is now considering their next course of action.

The Court found that the Palmdale antenna ordinance, as it pertained to the height limit for vertical antennas, was =93unenforceable=94 because it allowed a radio amateur to have a vertical antenna up to 75 feet high when measured from the ground but limited the =93active element of the antenna array=94 to 30 feet. The ordinance did not define =93array=94 o= r =93active element=94 and did not specify from where the 30 permitted feet for such =93array=94 was to be measured. The Court found that if even one reasonable interpretation of the ordinance could be found, the ordinance could be upheld, but that in this case, no one could understand what the limitations were and how they could be applied.
That portion of the City=92s ordinance was therefore unconstitutional and unenforceable.

The Court also held that the ordinance was unenforceable to the extent that it attempted to regulate radio frequency interference. The City maintained that it could regulate RFI, but the Court, citing case law and argument in ARRL Amicus Curiae brief, held that only the FCC could regulate RFI. Any State or municipal law that attempts to regulate RFI is preempted.

Of some concern to Len Shaffer, however, is that the Court held that Palmdale properly ordered Zubarau to remove his permitted 55-foot crankup tower. The Court opined that the small, VHF/UHF vertical on the roof constituted =93reasonable accommodation=94 under PRB-1 and California PRB-1 statute (California Government Code Section 65850.3).
The Court said that leaving Zubarau with a VHF/UHF antenna constituted a reasonable accommodation because it allowed him to be active in some part of Amateur Radio. There was no analysis of the =93minimum practicable regulation=94 test in PRB-1 and the California statute, so that part of the three-prong PRB-1 test was left unexamined. Because the Court reversed the trial court on this finding, Zubarau had no longer clearly =93substantially prevailed=94 in this case and so the Court remanded the case to the trial judge to re-examine the issue of attorney=92s fees claimed by Zubarau.

The Court=92s application of the =93reasonable accommodation=94 standard of PRB-1 in this case is, in the view of Len Shaffer and ARRL, both unique and very narrow. Said ARRL General Counsel Chris Imlay, W3KD:

=93While this decision is positive for Amateur Radio in California in two significant respects, the record in this case shows that the small, roof-mounted VHF/UHF antenna at WB6X was insufficient to conduct any international communications. Alec=92s tower is necessary in order to conduct international communications and to permit even a 50/50 chance of contacting Alec=92s native Belarus on any given day. The Court ignored this evidence and it did not apply the =93reasonable accommodation=94 test articulated by FCC and in prior case law, and it did not apply PRB-1=92s =93least practicable restriction=94 test at all. In essence, the Court applied a balancing test which FCC and several Federal courts have said is improper in conducting the PRB-1 analysis. It is not true that any accommodation for a radio amateur is reasonable accommodation, and it is not sufficient to simply permit a radio amateur =93some participation=94 in our avocation. Instead, PRB-1 permits effective, reliable Amateur communications. It is hoped that the Court will revisit this portion of its otherwise favorable decision and get it right the second time.=94

The court made three decisions that affect amateurs in California. First the court found that part of the Palmdale ordinance was unconstitutional because it was vague and could not be understood by a reasonable person. That part of the ordinance allowed an Amateur to have a vertical antenna up to 75 feet high when measured from the ground but limited the =93active element of the antenna array=94 to 30 feet in height. The court found that the ordinance did not define =93array=94 or =93active element=94 and did not say where the height of suc=
array was measured from. After a number of questions were submitted regarding this ordinance, the court determined that no one could really understand what it meant and declared it unconstitutional. This part of the decision, said ARRL Volunteer Counsel Shaffer, will affect only hams living in Palmdale.

The next issue decided by the court had to do with radio frequency interference. They said that only the Federal government could regulate RFI and any state or municipal law that tried to address it was preempted. That means it is not enforceable. That part of the decision affects hams throughout the state, according to Shaffer. He asks any California amateur whose municipality or county has an ordinance that limits Amateur Radio antennas or operations based on whether there is interference to consumer or other devices to contact Southwestern Division Vice Director Marty Woll, N6VI, at n6vi@arrl.org.

The final part of the decision had to do with whether Palmdale followed the law when they made Alec Zubarau take down his permitted tower but allowed him to keep a VHF/UHF vertical on his roof. The court said they thought this was a reasonable accommodation because it allowed him to be active in some part of Amateur Radio. =93This decision is troubling,=94 said Shaffer, =93and we are considering what options we may have regarding any further review of the issue. We will be conferring with various legal sources before any final determination is made.=94

     Even in California, the smuggler is violating both federal and

Obviously you haven't studied for an ham radio license in the US.

Part 97.115b allows a third party to use a ham radio as long as a licensed control operator supervises. An legal scenario under FCC rules would be where the driver is using the radio and the passenger is a licensed amateur.

Well that's boston for ya. It's screwed up in every respect.
In cincinnati, auto patch still thrives well because of the people that run it.
although it is probably not used as much since cell phones are in wide use.

And when a ham radio operator (who has no better ability to drive than anyone else) goes over the cliff because he/she was distracted by operating his ham gear while driving, at least he wilol know, in those few seconds before he dies, that he was well within the law.

It usually isn't the misfits who ruin that stuff. Its the authorities inability to tell the difference between misfits and normal people. "they are quick to throw everybody into the same "misfit bag".

Copi8ed from the internet:

Technical properties
Some DECT properties:[citation needed]

  a.. Audio codec: G.726, G.711, G.722 (wideband), G.729.1 (wideband) and MPEG-4 ER LD AAC (wideband and super-wideband)
  b.. Net bit rate: 32 kbit/s c.. Frequency: 1880 MHz-1900 MHz in Europe, 1900 MHz-1920 MHz in China,?1893 MHz-1906 MHz in Japan, 1910 MHz-1930 MHz in Latin America and 1920 MHz-1930 MHz in the US and Canada, US DECT and DECT 6 products may NOT be used in the UK as they cause and suffer interference to the UK 3G cellular networks with unlicensed use of such products being prohibited by UK agencies. As DECT and DECT 6.0 do not operate in the 2.4 GHz ISM band, they are not subject to the interference arising in this band from its use by 802.11b and 802.11g WiFi, and 2.4 GHz cordless phones.
  d.. Carriers: 10 (1,728 kHz spacing) in Europe, 5 (1,728 kHz spacing) in the US e.. Time slots: 2 x 12 (up and down stream)

  f.. Channel allocation: dynamic g.. Average transmission power: 10 mW (250 mW peak) in Europe, 4 mW (100 mW peak) in the US
I was talking about the maximum power allowed by law for such devices, and not the minimum that some cleaver manufacturers have been able to achieve. A lot depends on the frequency and the available antenna swystem.

Pretty soon everything will be illegal.
There were over 44,000 new Laws and Regulations instituted, in 2009.
Most were restrictions on Citizens. Note I didn't say voted in.
Most Citizens would have not voted for most of them.
How many more were passed last year?
The only rights you will have are the privileges you can afford from Big Business.

I have a Realistic PRO-2003 AM/FM scanning receiver for sale. It is in very good shape and comes with the manual. I'm asking $50 plus postage for it. You may contact me off the newsgroup.

Thanks

Henry

In a further effort to further crackdown on perfectly legal 2 way radio operators, Vancouver, Montreal, and other Canadian cities have passed laws outlawing leaving valuable itemms like your ham radio or cb radio in plain sight in your vehicle. If you are in a restaurant or store and a cop or mountie looks inside your vehicles windows and sees your valuable ham radio or valuable cb radio in the usual place, under the dash, or amywhere at all where it is visi,ble instead of hidden where no one can see it, you will get ticketed and fined and prison time. Since you broke the law by leaving a valuable item or items in plain sight inside your vehicle.

The Crazy Canuck Canadians were not satisfied with only outlawing the use of hand-held microphones Now they also outlawed simplay having the radios visible in the ONLY NORMAL spot for a 2 way radio and outlawed having them visiIbe anywhere in the vehicle.

and then as usual, Kooky California will follow , and then other American cities and states will follow, also outlawing having any 2 way radios visible in your vehicle .
The reason the authorities gave for why they passed this law allowing them to fine ordinary citizens for doing so is to prevent theft of valuable items in vehicles by theieves and criminals.
however, we all know the real reason for this ridiculous law is so they can ticket and fine more people to get more money for theirselves. So the Canadian cops and Canadan Royal Mounties and Canadian governments are the real thieves.

read it again, although they did not outlaw ham radio , they, Delaware, outlawed even having a cb radio in vehicles at all unless it is in a commercial vehicle If a cb radio is in a private non-commercial passenger vehicle, it is illegal accordin to the new Delaware law, and you are violating the law, according to the new Delaware law
and they wold have outlawed ham radios in them also if they could have However, they could not since the Fcc rules say they can not.
The Delaware law, as written and passed, outlaws even having a cb radio in a non-commercial vehicle even if it is mounted connected to the vehicle as usual. The law in that state says a cb radio is only legal in s vehicle if it is mounted in a commercial vehicle . non-commercial passenger vehicles are NOT exempt. Delaware has also made driving more dangerous with this law. I have driven through cities where the cities were broadcasting one-way traddic reports and road conditions on cb channel 19 which made my drive and other drivers drives safer as we kknew wgich roads they were doing constrution work on and to take and not take among other things. Now, if I have to travel to Delaware, my only choices are to leave a radio in my car and get fined or to spend time taking the radio out and travel through the other heavy-traddic cities without being able to hear the traffic safety reports those cities provide on cb channel 19 which makes the drive MORE dangerous and causes MORE accidents ,since regular am and fm broadcast stations no longer provide any such services since media consolidation, Dumb Delaware has made the roads more dangerous and increased the likelyhood of traffic accidents,

Your so full of shit it's pathetic.
Post a link to the actual law.
I'll bet you won't do it.

This is the greatest law passed in the history of any legal system, anywhere. I for one applaud Canada's approach to the issue of theft of personal property from vehicles, and fully support and endorse any efforts to bring such laws into effect on a global scale.

You, sir, clearly do not wish to reap the benefits of such forward-thinking legislation. Philistine.

If this is true then the next logical step would be to ban wallets that leave an indication of being in your hip pocket and....ban carrying handbags.

Jest another step in the gradual process of making the victom responsible for the crime. Liberals just love to do that.

I see no reason why a microphone couldn't just be another cell phone ap. the CB unit (or other piece of ham gear) could be completely hidden, and your cell phone could be the microphone that keys and feeds it.

Right. Soon, it will be against the law for good citizens to wander about freely where criminals could attack and mug them after dark. Everyone will have to report into their padded cells one hour before sundown every night, so they won't tempt the poor, desperate muggers, thereby forceing them to break the law.

Don't believe there is need to be concerned. Can't find a single matching link or post.
Canadian has so many regulations, on everything, it appears to be straight jacketing their Citizens.
The US put over 44,000 new regulations and laws on the books, in 2009.
One State passed over 135 new regulations, in two or three days last week. Pretty soon you will need a permit, or pay a fee, tax, or license, for what little leeway or freedom is allowed.

To some posters, anyone who disagrees with them are "trolls". Especially if they can't out-argue them with simple logic. They are quick to scream, "troll", and "gun nut" and or anything other than formulating a reasonable logical argument for their own point of view.

Yes. Unfortunately, the framers of our constitution didn't forsee the tax mania that was going to come about during the following 200 years. Today, the federal and state governments are forcing liberty into a huge black money hole by using the tax laws to control our morality and anything else they want to control. Don't want people to drink Coca Cola?

Well, just tax the living hell out of it. Does the soldier on the front lines fire an extra round or two for the people who drink Coke? No? Well what does that matter? We don't have to obey any laws about taxation. It wasn't mentioned in the constitution, so we can tax whomever and whatever we please, for no other purpose other than to make money.

It's the nature of nature that those who are big and powerful oppress those who are small, weak, and cowardly. It has nothing to do with the constitution. If mice don't want to get eaten by lions, they need to gang up on the lion and force it to do their bidding. And if that doesn't work, they need to run and hide.

To prove it has nothing to do with the constitution, just look at all the "unfair" taxes in countries that don't have constitutions.

Look at all the unfair taxes we have here, even though we do have a constitution. 30 years ago I needed some ethyl alcohol. I don't drink it, but I used it to clean my trumpet with. I had to buy 4 gallons of it at $40 a gallon. the vender told me that the government took 50% of that in taxes. Normally, it would only cost me $20 a gallon. So, I had to find 3 other guys who would go in with me on the purchase, (most of them would drink it) and buy like 10x as much as I needed. that's our government in action for you. (And for all you liberals out there who would be quick to tell me to use isopropyl alcohol, it makes me sick, so that's why I needed ethyl.)

Think of the implications that the first example you thought of was 30 years ago.  If it was a big problem, wouldn't you have thought of a more recent example first?

Recently I had to get gas for my lawnmower.  It cost me $8+ to fill my container, including highway tax etc.  I suppose I should mow the highway.

Yes. I am 75, so most of my lifetime examples come from a number of years ago. but I also keep up on the news, so I know that our tax laws haven't gotten any better. The tendency of the liberals to use taxes to control the morality of the people has gotten worse over the years. Also, they get money anywhere it exists whether the people they steal it from deserve the treatment or not. If you have money, then the liberals feel that you deserve to have to give it up. The fact that you may have spent years doing without and working your fanny off to get it don't make no never mind to them. They think everybody who rides through Sherwood Forest on a fine horse must be the Sheriff of Nottingham......:^)

A minor point but one I understand. We had nothing and still have most of it.
After we are both retired we managed to buy a real performance automobile.
Had to pay a fine or sin tax, of 2,800.00, because it didn't get 25 or whatever miles per gallon. Never mind that those responsible, for the attitude and who's daily commute consumes the equivalent, of a large SUVs fuel, each way, for a month, or the limousines etc that they are driven in daily getting maybe 12 mpg.

They charge a healthy tax on gasoline. That should take care of it. The worse your mileage, the more gasoline you have to buy, and the more tax you pay. Why would the liberals want any more than this? Back East, they have toll roads. I can't think of anything more stupid than having to brake down from speed to a stop, pay a toll, and then re-accelerate back up to speed. How many gallons of gasoline a year are wasted doing this?
